GRAMMAR SCHOOL CLOSING EXERCISES

Fine Programs Given by Pupils—Addresses by Members of the School Board

The exercises of graduation of all of the grammar schools with the exception of the Greenhalge and Varnum schools, which were held last night, and the Lincoln school, which will take place tomorrow, were held today, some in the forenoon and others in the afternoon. All of the schools were prettily decorated and fine programs were the order of the day. In the primary schools, yesterday, many delightful programs were presented and in all of the schools pupils presented their teachers with bouquets of flowers and other tokens of remembrance. All of the exercises were well attended and the programs this year, in a majority of the schools, were more elaborate than in former years. Parents and friends of the pupils were delighted with the exercises and the speakers congratulated the graduates upon the successful conclusion of their grammar school course.

AGENT CONNELL RESIGNS POSITION

At T. & S. Mills—He Will Take Much Needed Rest

John J. Connell, agent of the Tremont & Suffolk mills for more than eleven years, has resigned, his resignation to take effect August 1.

This does not, in any way, represent hurried action on the part of Mr. Connell, as he has had it under contemplation for about two years. About a year ago Mr. Connell told the writer he would resign within a year, stating then that the burden was getting too heavy for him and that he believed himself entitled to a good long rest.

Mr. Connell has the reputation of being one of the most progressive and successful mill agents in the country, a fact that has been borne out by his work as agent of the Tremont & Suffolk mills, having paid off a debt of approximately $3,000,000 and establishing in its stead a surplus of $2,300,000.

Mr. Connell became agent of the Tremont & Suffolk mills, April 28, 1902, and he is now rounding out his 43rd year in the cotton mills. After August first, he will move to his old home in New Berlin, N. Y., where he will enjoy a well earned rest. His successor has not yet been appointed.

AGENT JOHN J. CONNELL, Of Tremont & Suffolk Mills

MURDER WITNESS CUTS THROAT

Wm. C. Adams, State's Witness in Trial of J.H. Wrenn, Attempted Suicide Today

KEENE, N. H., June 25.—William C. Adams, one of the state's principal witnesses at the trial of John H. Wrenn, charged with the murder of J. Stewart Hamilton, a railroad construction foreman, attempted suicide by cutting his throat at his home a few hours before the taking of testimony was begun today. Adams lives with his sister at Hinsdale and it was at their home that Hamilton boarded. Adams and Hamilton were intimate friends and it is believed that the tragic death of the other preyed on Adams' mind. He may recover.

County Solicitor Cain made the opening statement of the government's case. He said it would be shown that on Feb. 5 Hamilton had considerable money and that he received a call from Wrenn. Later Hamilton went in the direction taken by Wrenn when he left Hamilton's office. The next morning the foreman's body was discovered and his money was missing. It would be shown, the prosecutor said, that Wrenn about his time paid several debts, gave some money to his family and then left for Halifax, N. S.

TO PARDON JOHN WAINWRIGHT

Worcester Man is Serving Life Sentence for the Murder of His Daughter

BOSTON, June 25.—A pardon for John Wainwright of Worcester, who is serving a life sentence for the murder of his daughter, Mrs. Annie Lindley, at Worcester in 1906, was recommended today by the pardon committee of the executive council. Final action, however, was postponed for a week in order to obtain a statement from District Attorney Taft.

It was shown to the pardon committee that Wainwright was incensed against his daughter because of her immoral life. He fired several shots from a revolver but claimed he only meant to frighten her. One of the bullets killed the girl and another wounded her mother.

DIG BODIES OUT OF SMOULDERING RUINS

Eleven Killed and Sixty Injured in an Explosion and Fire in Buffalo—Buildings Still Burning

BUFFALO, N. Y., June 25.—Three bodies were dug out of the smouldering ruins of the Husted Milling Co. elevator this morning, two more are visible in the debris and two of the injured have succumbed, bringing the total of the death list from the explosion and fire with the four who last night were known to have perished up to 11. The bodies recovered today were so badly charred that identification was impossible.

60 in Hospitals

Tony Kruger and William Wikowsky, both of whom were frightfully burned, died at the emergency hospital. Of the 60 explosion victims in the hospitals many are so badly injured that recovery is not expected.

High up in a shattered cupola of the mill two companies of firemen are battling to recover two and possibly more bodies. From the upper windows of the concrete section of the elevator and from the Elk street viaduct the bodies are plainly visible, but great clouds of smoke from the burning rooms have kept the firemen from ascending.

Firemen poured streams of water on the ruins last night and this morning, but the debris is piled so high that it will be days before a complete search can be made.

Twenty-six Are Missing

Official checking of the list of employes of the Husted Milling Co., whose elevator was blown up by a dust explosion yesterday showed that in addition to the 11 known victims, 26 men are still unaccounted for and are believed to be in the ruins.

Terrific Explosion

BUFFALO, N. Y., June 25.—The big grain mill and storage warehouse of the Husted Milling Company was wrecked late yesterday afternoon by an explosion. The damage will amount to $500,000.

The explosion was terrific. Windows for a quarter of a mile around were broken. The whole north wall of the immense structure was blown out. The bodies of men were hurled high in the air. An engineer in the cab of a passing train was thrown from his seat, receiving injuries which will probably be fatal. Fire following immediately after the explosion completed the work of horror. Many were killed.

Search for Victims

The police started early today to make a house-to-house canvass and a tour of the hospitals where victims were taken. They were provided with lists of employes who reported for work yesterday. The canvass, completed at noon, showed that there were 44 men in hospitals, half of whom are not expected to recover; 23 were found safe or only slightly injured in their homes; 10 employes dead, not counting John Conroy, the Nickel Plate engineer, who was blown from his cab and died later at the hospital. Clifford M. Husted, superintendent of the elevator company, said this afternoon that the company's revised list of dead, injured and missing showed 26 men still unaccounted for.

Buried in Ruins

"We have been unable to get any trace of these men," he said. "It is known they were in the mill at the time of the explosion and we fear they are buried in the ruins."

Taking the police record as a basis as to the number of missing and the statement of the hospital physicians, that half of the injured have no chance of recovery, with a known dead of 11, the probable ultimate roll of the tragedy approaches three score.

More New Cases Reported This Morning—The Board of Health Held Special Meeting Today

Four more cases of smallpox were reported at the office of the board of health today. No new cases were reported from the French-American orphanage and the institution is under strict quarantine.

Besides the new cases reported, Dr. McAvinnue stated to the board, at a special meeting held at the noon hour today, that there were cases under observation at the block at the corner of Pawtucket and School streets. The doctor was positive that one child he had examined in the block had had the disease. The child's mother told him that two other of her children had gone out and the doctor said he would return later in the day and examine them.

The new cases reported this morning were Donalda Planta, 17; residence, 75 South street. There are 12 in the family and only three or four have been vaccinated. At least three members of the family have been working in the mills. Omer Pelletier, 5 years, 190 Fletcher street. In this case the doctors stated that the child had almost gotten over the disease and would be all right in a few days.

WITH BURNS DETECTIVE AGENCY

P. J. McCrann, Formerly of This City, Made Clever Arrest in Kansas City, Mo.

The following item of interest to the many friends of P. J. McCrann, formerly of this city, appeared recently in an issue of the "Daily Chronicle" of Kansas City.

Mr. McCrann is well known in Lowell. He came here last year at which time he was the guest of his sister, Miss Katherine McCrann, now Mrs. Arthur Lewis.

The item is as follows: After a chase lasting six days, P. J. McCrann, representative of the Burns detective agency, arrested T. J. Dabakey at the home of relatives, at 21st and Third avenue south. The man will be arraigned in Kansas City, Mo., where he will stand trial on a charge of swindling the Western Exchange bank of that city. The man put up quite a fight when several members of the police force assisted Mr. McCrann in overcoming him.

Mr. McCrann when interviewed stated that the agency, in whose interests he is working, received word that the prisoner had secured $108.85 by fraud, this consisting, so it is alleged, of the overdrawing from the bank of $105.85, a check being made out to a person who before the overdraft had always cashed checks for Dabakey and found them to be good.

The Burns man started after his man on the 13th of June. He followed him to Springfield, Ill., and a number of other places. Finally he was trailed to Kansas City and arrested.

The police are to be complimented upon their work, according to the story told by the detective. They worked with him until they were sure of the man and then went out and helped him to make the arrest. Dabakey showed fight but he was overpowered within a short time.

HUSBAND SHOT WIFE

Then Turned Weapon Upon Himself

BOSTON, June 25.—Following a quarrel between Niblo Nazzaro and his wife, Mildred, in a cafe on Howard street, where the latter was employed as a cashier, Nazzaro fired a shot at his wife and then turned the revolver on himself today. At the relief hospital it was stated that both might die.

The couple had been separated for some time.

SUIT AGAINST THE LOWELL AUTO CO.

Growing Out of Collision on Boulevard Called in Superior Court Today

At the opening of this morning's session of the superior civil court, Judge Pratt began his charge to the jury in the case of Lena C. Earle vs. Dr. Frank G. Gulliland, all of the testimony having been submitted and the arguments made by counsel before the adjournment yesterday afternoon.

Suit Against Lowell Auto Co.

The suit against the Lowell Automobile company, in which the jury recently drawn took a view, was then called. The plaintiffs are Clarence Tibbetts and his father, Albert J. Tibbets, each claim damages of $5000, totaling $10,000. Both suits will be tried as one. Plaintiffs charge that an automobile of the Lowell Automobile company struck and injured Clarence Tibbetts while the latter was riding a bicycle on the boulevard. It is said that Dan O'Dea, demonstrating salesman and instructor in driving for the company was teaching a Miss Robbins to drive an auto previously purchased from the defendant company by her father, and that the instructions were being given in accordance with an agreement made at the time of the sale.

The defense claims that the fault of the accident was with the plaintiff, who defendant alleges turned directly into the path of the machine and before the auto could be brought to a stop, they claim, the collision had occurred.

The first witness called was Mr. Fred Emerson, manager of the company, who testified in general to the sale of the machine and the conditions of the transaction.

Harold Varnum, Esq., for the plaintiff and Messrs. Qua, Howard and Rogers for the defense.

JUDGE JENNEY DECIDES CASE

Finds Dan Smith Company Liable For Debt of $800 to $900 Transferred to Corporation

In the bill in equity brought by Mrs. Delia Gray of Lowell, administratrix of the estate of the late Arthur L. Gray, against Dan Smith and the Dan Smith company of Lowell, seeking to hold the Dan Smith company liable for an alleged debt of between $800 and $900 due from Dan Smith to A. L. Gray, the action being brought on the ground that said Dan Smith transferred his stock in trade in a haberdashery establishment to the Dan Smith company corporation in fraud of his creditors, a decision was yesterday handed down by Judge Jenney, who heard the case in East Cambridge, in April. The court finds that the property was transferred as alleged by the plaintiff, in fraud of the creditors of Dan Smith and that the corporation, through its officers, was a party to the fraud, and Judge Jenney has ordered judgment for the plaintiff in accordance with the finding. Messrs. Qua, Howard and Rogers appeared for the plaintiff and J. J. and W. A. Hogan, Esq., for the defense.

EX-GOV. GUILD ROBBED

Lost $1000 in Cash and Letter For $50,000

PARIS, June 25.—Curtis Guild, Jr., who recently resigned his post as United States ambassador at St. Petersburg, was robbed today of $1000 in cash and a letter of credit for $50,000. He is staying at a hotel in Paris.

Xavier Guichard, the head of the criminal investigation department and a large force of detectives were at once sent out to search for the thief.

EXPLOSION AN ACCIDENT

PLYMOUTH, June 25.—The explosion and fire which destroyed the shoe factory of R. B. Grover & Co. at Brockton and caused the loss of more than 60 lives on March 20, 1905, were not due either to negligence on the part of the corporation or to the incompetence of the engineer, according to the finding announced today by Judge Chamberlain, who was appointed auditor to hear the testimony in 11 damage suits against the company. The Grover factory disaster was one of the worst in the history of New England. Soon after the opening hour the boiler exploded with such force as to cause the collapse of the wooden factory building. Fire broke out in the ruins.

Judge Chamberlain declares that the explosion was an accident for which the corporation was in no way liable.

BUTLER SCHOOL

The exercises at the Butler school were largely attended, as usual. Dr. P. J. Bagley of the school board accepted the gift of the graduates to the school in a neat address, congratulating the graduates. Mayor O'Donnell delivered a brief address in which he said:

From this school some of you will pass on to the High school; some perhaps will avail themselves of the opportunity to receive a practical education in our new Industrial school, which I heartily commend; others seeking specialization along commercial lines will enter business or commercial institutions, while many of you will seek no further schooling but will enter the world of business or labor with stout hearts and willing hands to earn your livelihood. Regardless of what paths along which the future may lead you, I ask you all to strive to become efficient. It matters not whether you are to work with the ladder or the lathe; whether you are to become the skilled craftsman or the patient toiler; the teacher or the housekeeper, the stenographer or the saleslady, aim to become efficient in your particular line, and success will crown your efforts.

Each man and woman has a place in this world and there is success enough to go around. Go after it from the start and stick to it, and you'll get there and be a credit to your parents, your school, your city and yourselves. I wish you all a pleasant vacation and a healthful, happy and prosperous future.

PURE GRIT ENABLED ARCHDEACON STUCK TO REACH TOP OF NORTH AMERICAN CONTINENT

Archdeacon HUDSON STUCK OF ALASKA WHO REACHED TOP OF MT. McKINLEY

NEW YORK, June 25.—"Leading an expedition to the top of Mount McKinley, the highest mountain in North America, is not the first unusual thing the Rev. Hudson Stuck, archdeacon of Alaska, has done," said Eugene M. Camp of New York, a personal friend of the missionary of some years' standing. "He has the fighting spirit, and I believe pure grit enabled him to win. Mr. Stuck, an Englishman by birth, came to America as a young fellow and went to the University of the South. He became an Episcopal clergyman in 1892, serving under Bishop Johnston in western Texas. Two years were enough for him to be discovered in that distant field, and in 1894 he became dean of St. Matthew's cathedral at Dallas under Bishop Garrett. After a service three of ten years he went in 1904 to Alaska, where he has been since. Dallas sent him in 1901 to San Francisco, a deputy to the Episcopal general convention. Young and unknown, he won his spurs in that eventful convention. The late Rev. Dr. William R. Huntington of New York, one of the most brilliant debaters any church in America has ever produced, then, at his height, led a five day debate. Young Stuck successfully met him and over and over again carried the whole convention with him against the famous New York debater. People began to ask who the Texan might be. They found out before the convention was over. Even Dr. Huntington paid him the highest compliment as a fighter in the forum. Three years later Mr. Stuck astonished his friends by giving up his position at Dallas and going to Alaska. The bishop of Alaska, the Right Rev. Dr. Peter T. Rowe, is one of the best known bishops in the Episcopal church, brought into prominence at first by the late J. Pierpont Morgan of New York, who financially helped him. Becoming his archdeacon, Mr. Stuck did the difficult thing of remaining perfectly loyal to Bishop Rowe, not taking a single laurel from him, and yet himself attaining a worldwide fame as a daring missionary. From distant Alaska, without once leaving it, but for eight years sticking to his job, he wrote descriptive articles about the Episcopal church in Alaska. These were published in the missionary magazine of his church. The outcome is that Archdeacon Stuck is one of the best known leaders. When he comes to New York in October next, to attend the general convention, the same body he attended in San Francisco in 1901, hardly another man will be more sought after as a speaker. And he did it all while himself remaining in Alaska snows and wilds. Nobody wonders he got to the top of Mount McKinley—having made up his mind to start." The message said that he reached the summit of the mountain on June 7. He set out three months ago for the trip. The dispatch says that the scaling party was able to discern a flagpole that the Thomas Lloyd expedition in 1910 put up on one of the lower peaks. The explorer believes that the accuracy of his instruments, coupled with the splendid weather conditions prevailing, will give an unusually correct calculation as to the exact height of the mountain when his observations have been figured out. Archdeacon Stuck and his companions—H. P. Karstens, R. G. Tatum and Walter Harper—knelt in prayer and recited the thanksgiving service of the church and later put up a six foot cross on the summit. The archdeacon and his three followers left Fairbanks the middle of March. Their equipment was supplied from the outfit of Professor Parker, which was used last year. Supplies had been taken to the foot of the mountain last fall.

WASHINGTON CLUB PICNIC

Big Turnout of Members at Martin Luther Camp

The members of the Washington club of this city held their annual outing this afternoon at the Martin Luther grounds in Tyngsboro and the event was attended by a majority of the members. The party started at noon from the headquarters of the club in Prescott street, making the journey to the camp grounds in automobiles owned by members. They made quite a procession as they left the square en route for the scene of the day's festivities.

Arriving at the grounds, a luncheon was served which was heartily enjoyed by all and then the fun started. There was an excellent program of sports prepared. The Married Men met the Single Men in a baseball game in which no little interest was aroused and each side had a good host of supporters. Mr. J. J. Sullivan had offered prizes of white flannel pants to the members of the winning team and had one pair on exhibition in his tailor headquarters in The Sun building this morning. Mr. Sullivan captained the Married Men while the bachelors were led by Thomas F. Kelly.

The other events included 100 yards dash, fat men's race, games of quoits and throwing a baseball, and there were many entries in all. There were suitable prizes for the winners in all of the contests, these prizes having been donated by the members of the executive committee of the club.

Dinner was to be served at half-past four and a bounteous repast had been prepared for the occasion. Everybody was in the best of spirits and ready for a general good time and every variety of amusement which the members could devise was resorted to.

The committee in charge of the outing consisted of: Dr. William M. Collins, chairman, William A. Hogan, Charles L. Marren, William C. Purcell, Thomas F. Kelly, Joseph A. Legare, James J. Kerwin, J. C. Manseau, and John J. Sullivan. They received the hearty commendation of the members for the success of the event and for the enjoyment furnished all.

"RANCH 101" IN WRECK

Two Hundred Performers Got Scare When Four Coaches Were Derailed—Two Injured

BOSTON, June 25.—Two hundred performers of "Ranch 101" show got a scare yesterday, when four coaches of the show train were derailed at East Somerville. Two of the employes were injured slightly—George H. Hutchinson and Thomas Atkinson. The former received some contusions, while the latter sustained a sprained knee. Both were treated at the Massachusetts General hospital.

The show was on its way from the Back Bay to Lynn. The special train was sent over the Boston & Albany tracks in two sections of 20 cars. The first section, carrying the horses and other animals, arrived at Lynn all right. The second section carried the wagons, tents and culinary equipment. As the train was taking the crossover at the eastern division three of the cars toppled over.

To Form Holy Cross Club

The final arrangements for forming a Holy Cross Club in this city and in the Merrimack valley will be discussed and action taken at a general meeting of graduates and undergraduates which will be held in Page's banquet hall beginning at 7 o'clock this evening. All of the alumni and present students in this vicinity have been notified and are requested to be present. A luncheon will be served during the evening.

Rev. Joseph N. Dinand, S. J., president of Holy Cross college is expected to be present and greet the body and lend his aid to forming a strong and permanent organization. There will also, it is said, be present prominent Holy Cross men from Boston and vicinity and from other out-of-town places who are deeply interested in the project which has proven so successful in other cities.

CUPID PERCHED ON MILBURN'S PONY ALL THROUGH THE BIG POLO GAMES

NEW YORK, June 25.—Cupid rode to victory when the American polo team defeated England recently. His secret is now out: in the announcement of the engagement of Miss Nancy G. Steele, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Steele of New York and Westbury, N. Y., to Devereux Milburn, the famous polo player. The news of the engagement came as a surprise, as few outside of the immediate families of the young couple knew that a deeper sentiment than a mutual interest in sports existed between them. The engagement, however, is said to have existed for some time, having been kept a secret until the international polo games had been played. Miss Steele's father is a member of the firm of J. P. Morgan & Co. Mr. Milburn is a member of the Meadowbrook, the Aero and the Racket and Tennis clubs. He was graduated from Oxford in 1903 and from Harvard in 1905. He was star of the American polo team in England in 1909 and again in 1910 and distinguished himself in the last international series. He has long been noted for his daring horsemanship.

THREATENED TO MURDER WOMAN

Sensational Charges Made at London Against Daughter of Arthur Orton

LONDON, June 25.—A sensational charge was made yesterday at Bow st. police court against a daughter of Arthur Orton, the notorious claimant to the estates of the Tichborne family, about whose identity the world was divided into two camps for many years. The woman was accused of threatening to murder Miss Greville, who is to marry the young baronet, Sir Joseph Doughty-Tichborne at Brompton Oratory tomorrow.

The threat was contained in a letter to the Earl of Granard, who in 1909 married Beatrice Mills, daughter of Ogden Mills of New York.

The accused, who called herself Theresa Doughty-Tichborne, protested in court that she intended no harm to the bride and only wanted to bring her case to the attention of the public. The letter to the Earl of Granard referred to the approaching marriage of my cousin Joseph Tichborne," it said. "I asked you to use your influence to make them give me some of the money they have stolen from us. You do nothing. It is nothing to you that I starve as long as you and your wife can give parties and flaunt about with people who, if they knew the truth, would be ashamed to know you."

Shall Shoot That Girl

"I am making you an accessory before the fact by telling you that I shall shoot that girl rather than Joseph shall marry her and they live on my money. As there is a God in heaven I am going to do it."

The woman was remanded.

Arthur Orton in 1869 claimed to be Roger Tichborne and demanded the title and estates of the twelfth baronet. He came from Australia and the family believing he had been lost at sea, refused to acknowledge him.

GIRL FOUND SUSPENDED FROM HOOK

Charges That Father Fastened a Chain Around Her Neck and Then Beat Her With Whip

AUGUSTA, Ga., June 25.—Charges that he fastened a chain around the neck of his 15-year-old daughter, suspended her from a meat hook in his butcher shop and then beat her with the butt end of a whip until the blood flowed from her wounds, were made against J. J. Johnson in the recorder's court yesterday. Policeman Moore, who arrested Johnson, stated he was called by neighbors who heard the girl's screams and that when he reached the meat market he found the girl suspended from a meat hook by a chain wrapped twice around her neck and locked.

The girl's arms and neck, the officer testified, showed evidences of severe beating, and she was exhausted when released. Johnson said he whipped his daughter because he could not control her.

His case was continued. One of the specific charges against him is assault with intent to murder.

HONOR PRES. POINCARE

Guest Today of Lord Mayor of London

LONDON, June 25.—President Poincare of France was the guest at luncheon today of the lord mayor and corporation of the city of London and the "square mile" composing the city proper was in gala array for the occasion, while the ancient guildhall was a blaze of color.

The French president's progress through streets lined with troops from York house placed at his disposal by King George to the city was a popular triumph. It was marked by enthusiastic welcoming cheers from thousands of sightseers who took the occasion in this way to express their approval of the friendly agreement between England and France.

The scene during the luncheon was brilliant. The hall was crowded with members of the royal family, cabinet ministers, naval and military officers and high state and civic dignitaries, their uniforms glittering with decorations.

TO TRY WHITE SLAVERS AT ONCE

Pres. Wilson Accepts McNab's Resignation—Exonerates McReynolds

WASHINGTON, June 25.—President Wilson last night telegraphed United States District Attorney John L. McNab of San Francisco, Cal., acceptance of the latter's resignation, the form of which the president characterized as "an inexcusable intimation of injustice and wrongdoing" on the part of Attorney-General McReynolds.

In a letter to the attorney-general the president exonerated him from blame and adopted Mr. McReynolds' suggestion that the Caminotti-Diggs and the Western Fuel company cases be prosecuted immediately by special counsel for the government.

White House officials announced that the president would confer today with the attorney-general about the appointment of special prosecutors, and that the president had in mind Francis J. Heney, progressive republican, who prosecuted the famous San Francisco graft trials; Matt J. Sullivan, democrat, who assisted Mr. Heney in the Ruef trial, and Thomas Hayden, democrat, a former assistant city attorney in San Francisco.

It was said that at least two of these three men, and possibly all, would be selected to take charge, not only of the Caminetti-Diggs white slave cases, but the Western Fuel company indictments.

Developments were rapid during the day in the situation which was precipitated by the telegrams of Mr. McNabb on Saturday to the president and attorney-general, accusing the latter of yielding to "rich and powerful influences" in ordering a posponement of these cases, the father of one of the defendants being Anthony Caminetti, commissioner-general of immigration.

Money deposited on or before Saturday, July 5th, in The Lowell Five Cent Savings Bank will draw interest from that day.

A LITTLE NONSENSE

LOWELL MAN IN NORTH

Geo. Conant at Mining Camp Near Pole

Mr. George Conant, formerly with Derby & Co., writes to The Sun from Long Year City, Advent Bay, West Spitzbergen, where he is out at the most northerly coal mine in the world. He is with a number of Norwegians.

In accordance with the many promises made at the time of leaving Lowell, August last, for the most northerly coal mine in the world, George W. Conant gives a description of West Spitzbergen, which is one of the largest of a group of islands known as Spitzbergen. It is 450 miles from Norway, 750 miles south of the pole, and 733 miles north of Klondike, which means about half way between the coldest part of North America and the coldest point of the world.

Our company, he says, has installed a wireless station which affords communication with Green harbor, a Norwegian government station, communicating with Ingo, Norway, and bringing us in touch with the world, which means a lot for we have no water communication from October 1, when the last boat sails, until June 1. Consequently no mail is received during that period of time. The writer did not learn the results of baseball until February, when the mail was brought by an expedition referred to later and even there he liked to hear of the heroes of the diamond.

The coldest day last winter in this country was 30 degrees below zero, the said weather lasting three days. The ordinary temperature in November, December, January and February was 30 to 35 degrees below zero, while in September, October, March and April the thermometer registered from 15 to 25 below. In June and July the average temperature is from 5 below to 10 above. It is here that nature comes to thrash out her spite and cast her grievances to the winds, for such winds and snow blizzards are unimaginable in the temperate climes. Blizzards in which it is impossible for man or beast to navigate. Humanity must stay indoors and the reindeer, ox and bear must keep in shelter. The snow, very fine and light, blows about so that one cannot see two feet in any direction. Many have been lost on the island, who were too venturesome in these storms. Most of this weather is in the long dark night which, for 24 hours is like Lowell's midnight.

During one of these storms lasting three days, from Jan. 29, our power house was destroyed by fire, a most serious catastrophe, leaving us without power or light. In 11 days we were again running, the repairs being temporary, the permanent repairs having been made later without even stopping the plant, which runs 24 hours per day.

The sun comes above the horizon for the last time on October 22, but owing to the mountainous surroundings in the vicinity of the camp we do not see it after Oct. 5. Daylight at the rate of 25 minutes per day disappears until Dec. 12, when it is total darkness. Daylight comes back the same way it went and on Feb. 19 the sun again shines.

They do say that we have buttercups and daisies here in summer and also that there is a tree growing 30 miles away. It is about two feet high and is a great curiosity. Our population is assorted, Germans, English, Norwegians, Swedes, Polanders and Americans.

On the morning after Christmas at 12.30 a German naval captain came to our power house with both hands and feet frozen. He was taken in and the doctor worked upon him for eight hours, using ice water to thaw out his members. He was one of an expedition to the extreme northeast coast of North East Land, for scientific research, which lost eight men as well as a number of dogs and considerable provisions, being caught in a wild storm. The captain lost a foot and the toes on the other, while one of the scientists will probably lose one foot.

SCHOONER WENT DOWN

Vessels in Collision in Boston Harbor

BOSTON, June 25.—The fishing schooner Priscilla sank in Boston harbor yesterday a few moments after she had been in collision with the harbor steamer Machigonne. The 15 men of the schooner's crew were saved. Both vessels were bound out, the Priscilla for a fishing trip and the Machigonne on her regular run to Nahant. When off the Commonwealth docks the steamer struck the after part of the Priscilla, ripping off the schooner's stern. The Priscilla's bow rose in the air for a moment and then the schooner plunged sternfirst to the bottom. Harbor tugs and a launch from the revenue cutter Gresham picked up the Priscilla's crew, most of whom had been thrown into the water.

FIRE IN ASH BARREL

Blaze Spread to Shed in Lakeview Ave.

Box 65 called the fire department out late yesterday afternoon but the alarm was caused by a small fire in an ash barrel on Lakeview avenue. By the time the firemen arrived on the scene, however, the blazing barrel had set fire to a small shed owned by Francis Garley. The shed was practically destroyed before the arrival of the fire apparatus but all fear of a conflagration was quieted as soon as the chemical got to work. The fire was extinguished in less than half an hour.

To Leave For Gettysburg

On next Friday, Capt. George Worthen, together with about 45 other Lowell people, will leave for Gettysburg, where the party will attend the G. A. R. reunion, which is to take place there soon. Mr. Worthen will be gone about ten days or two weeks. The party will be composed in great part of members of the G. A. R. posts in this city, accompanied by friends.

TWO AUTOS COLLIDED

In Nesmith Street, But Fortunately Nobody Was Injured and Little Damage Resulted

About 3 o'clock yesterday two automobiles, one the property of Mr. Austin K. Chadwick, president of the Five Cent Savings bank and the other owned by Mr. F. E. Nelson of Nelson's department store collided sharply in Nesmith street. No one was injured but both machines were damaged to some extent.

According to an eye witness Mr. Nelson was in his machine which was being driven along Nesmith street, Mr. Chadwick in his auto came out of his driveway and before either could turn out of the way, the car of Mr. Chadwick struck that of Mr. Nelson broadside. The prompt action of the drivers prevented a more serious accident. The damage to the autos was not great.

SMALLPOX CASES

Continued

The doctors allowed that whatever harm could be done in the way of exposure had already been accomplished. The other two victims are Girard Morrisette, 3 1-2 months, and Rudolph Morrisette, 18 months. Their home is at 195 Ludlam street and despite the fact that all these cases were well advanced no doctor had been summoned.

Up to the noon hour the total number of cases reported at the office of the board of health was 28.

The Board's Report

At the special meeting of the board today, the chairman read the following report:

"We now have actually 25 cases of smallpox, by far the great majority of a very mild nature, as evidenced by the slight eruption and their apparent healthful activity. The disease, so far, is not that which the name smallpox would naturally picture in the mind of the average person. The eruption in most cases is discrete and light and even in the more severe cases we believe there will be little, if any, disfigurement. The board of health is doing all in its power to check the disease which through its mildness and through, in many cases, lack of information to the health authorities, has managed to propogate itself somewhat through contact and association.

"Vaccination has now been well done through the infected districts. Also whatever ramification through contact and association which has taken place has been closely followed up with thorough process of vaccination.

"Free vaccination is being done at city hall, between the hours of 4 and 5 and 7 to 9 p. m., every day. People throughout the city who are not protected by vaccination should not wait for the house-to-house visit of the vaccinating physicians, but should provide themselves with the means of protection by calling on their family physician, or calling here at city hall, where they will be treated gratis, with vaccination.

"So far no very sore arms have been reported and with the modern means of vaccination at hand there should be no hesitation. In reference to a communication in this morning's paper signed 'Reader,' and which criticises the board of health for allowing the lawn fete at the French-American orphanage on Sunday, we would say that the board of health had no knowledge whatever of smallpox in the French-American orphanage until Sunday night and within a short time after being notified of that possibility, were there and took necessary precautions. The cases found there were in the early stages. These cases were not under suspicion so far as the health authorities were concerned. The history of the case shows that a child was not feeling well on Friday and the physicians called in evidently did not think there was any danger of smallpox. On Sunday night with the appearance of the eruption, Rev. Fr. Watelle, telephoned to Dr. Livingston for his diagnosis, hence our presence there at once and quarantine effected.

"Concerning the rumors that people were being admitted to the orphanage yesterday, I wish to read you an advertisement which appeared in the French paper on Monday. It is as follows:

Smallpox at Orphanage

"'Concerning the appearance of smallpox at the orphanage I feel unable to state how it penetrated there. Physicians have found the place in the best possible sanitary condition. The board of health was notified at once. The children were at once transferred from the orphanage. All the other children were at once vaccinated by three physicians. Doctors said the disease would soon disappear. No child has been transported to the contagious hospital. All visits to the orphanage are forbidden, and this extends to all surrounding property of the orphanage. I urge all parishioners to take the utmost care in preventing this disease. It is much better to notify the board of health of the disease than to attempt to conceal it. It would be unfair to draw conclusions against us in this case. However, the utmost rigor must be maintained against the disease.

(Signed),
"'Rev. Henri Watelle, O. M. I.'"

The following communication from Dr. Simpson of the state board of health, to the local board is self explanatory:

To the Board of Health,
Lowell, Mass.
Gentlemen:

On inspecting the isolation quarters at the French American orphanage on Pawtucket street with your chairman I found the building well situated, setting back from the street and good lawns and alleyways separating it from the nearest dwelling house and several hundred feet from the main building of the orphanage. There seems to be ample room for quite a number of cases. The sister in charge I found was not, and never had been vaccinated. This should be attended to at once. No provisions were there for boiling clothes. This also should be provided for. The clothes yard used for drying the clothes from the general laundry of the orphanage was within a few feet from the ell of the house. It would seem well to have some protection to keep the convalescing smallpox cases from getting too close to this, or perhaps it would be better to have it temporarily placed in some other part of the grounds. I see no objection to bringing food from the main kitchen to supply the wants of these patients, but it must be brought in bulk, carefully transferred to the dishes for the hospital and no dishes of any kind taken back, other than the tray or large dishes on which it is brought. I would advise soaking the soiled clothes for some hours in a one to sixty solution of carbolic acid and rinsing them out and boiling them for twenty minutes or half an hour before they could be handled by any one else. I shall be pleased to make further investigation when they get under way.

Yours very truly,
C. E. Simpson.

THE JOY RIDERS

The Highway Safety league of Boston apparently believes that the pernicious activity of the daring joy rider has gone too far in this section of the country to be tolerated any further, and at the beginning of this week they sent appeals out through the state for a fund of $10,000 with which to fight this growing evil. The league intends to establish branches in every city and town in the state so that the movement will not be sectional but of such a nature that the joy rider will find himself in uncomfortable quarters in whatever part of the state he may make his unwelcome visits.

Automobile accidents are alarmingly on the increase in this state and it is safe to say that most of them are due either to reckless driving or the ignorance of the joy rider. There is a well developed epidemic of speed mania, to satisfy which cars are stolen weekly and chauffeurs and others take automobiles without the permission of their owners. Newspaper illustrations not infrequently give cuts of shattered and twisted cars which have been abandoned after accidents, and the fact that those who rode in them disappeared without leaving any clue to their identity shows that they had either used the car without permission or met with accident as the result of their own most reprehensible folly. As an aftermath of a joy ride accident on Sunday, a lady residing in the Back Bay has sworn out a warrant for the arrest of her chauffeur who took the car without her permission to make a wild dash to Nahant with a party of friends. In speaking of her action this lady said: "I have taken out the warrant for the purpose of making an example of him as a joy rider, more than from any feeling that I have because he wrecked my new car."

There will be joy riders and joy riding so long as the courts deal as lightly with the offence as they now do. Many of the worst offenders are young men whose superabundance of wealth is not balanced by a superabundance of brains. These regard no law but the law of their own sweet will or pleasure. They rush over the roads in a reckless abandon that endangers their own useless lives and the lives of others. If perchance they are arrested for over speeding, or possibly because of some accident, they are often "punished" by being compelled to pay a fine. Whether the fine be $10.00 or $100.00 it has little effect. It merely gives a flavor of adventure to a new search after sensations and furnishes an anecdote to be told between the cocktails. If the joy rider were punished by being deprived of his license to drive, we might hope for some improvement. It is a parody on justice to wait until someone is killed before this is done.

The Boston Highway Safety league considers this matter of sufficient importance to warrant the taking of automobile control away from the highway commission, and the creation of special courts which would deal only with infractions of all regulations regarding the speed and control of automobiles. This course seems to be more extreme than is strictly necessary as there are now laws sufficient to check the joy rider, and sufficient authority to enforce them. A broader co-operation between the state highway commission, automobile leagues, and municipal councils would bring about the desired results, and the need for this co-operation was never so urgent as at the present time when automobile accidents are the rule rather than the exception.

SAFE AND SANE FOURTH

It is not too soon to make preparations for a safe and sane celebration of the 4th of July such as we enjoyed last year. Such a celebration is the result of a general public discussion, and the sooner all who desire a dignified expression of patriotism, devoid of the features that have too often made the day a day of tragedy in years past, agitate and discuss the subject, the better it will be for the children who are not allowed to maim themselves, the parents who are awake to the seriousness of the matter at last, and the citizens in general. Last year, there was not a single accident due to an explosion, at a hospital which had over thirty in 1911. If this is not a strong argument in favor of a safe and sane Fourth, it is difficult to find one that will satisfy those who believe that we do not prove ourselves good Americans unless we make life miserable for all who are in our immediate vicinity on the national holiday. If the toll of accidents all over the country were taken on July 5th in years past, it would undoubtedly be found that the 4th of July has sent as many to the hospitals as many of the battles of the wars which won for us the freedom we celebrate on that day.

We have not yet reached that ideal stage which dissociates patriotism from noise, so that it is too much to expect a celebration without the booming of cannon and the detonation of firecrackers. But, how many of those who indulge in this barbaric din know what it all means? It is for them only a chance to work off surplus energy. Noise, however, we still will have; it will please those who make it and subject others only to a passing inconvenience so long as the firecrackers are of the harmless variety. Parents should be particularly careful that they do not let their children use the types of giant cracker which have done so much damage in years past. The attitude of the country in this regard was well shown at the public indifference that followed a recent complaint of the American manufacturers of firecrackers regarding the reduced tariff rates on their commodities.

We can have a safe and sane 4th without discarding any of the good features of other years. Undoubtedly we will still have the jubilant night before, the marvellous midway on the common with its wild men and women, its merry-go-rounds, its African dodgers, its pink lemonade and frankfurts. The children will delight in rainbow-hued toy balloons and canes. There will be band concerts on the North and South commons. There will be patriotic orations and special municipal observances. There will be everything except maimed bodies, racing ambulances, and darkened homes. By all means let us have a safe and sane 4th.

NOT A SLIGHT MATTER

It is by no means a slight matter that the attorney-general of the United States has been accused by a subordinate of interfering with the course of justice at the solicitation of an officer of the government whose son was under suspicion. Still it can scarcely be conceived that the charge is true, although the unfortunate chain of circumstances gives it an awkward complexion. Probably no one will welcome the investigation which the president seems disposed to make, more than those most directly interested. This investigation should not be delayed a moment longer than is necessary, for the sake of the honor of all concerned.

In the meantime Mr. Caminetti, commissioner-general of immigration, is being accused of using "both his political and official influence to prevent his son from being brought to a speedy trial." It is possible that in the heat of the moment this charge is exaggerated. It is but natural that he should do all in his power to defend his son, but the nature of the charge against him, and the high public position of the father give insignificant actions an importance which they may not really possess. This is another instance of the need for the greatest caution on the part of those whose connection with the government throws some of their private actions out of all proportions in the eyes of the public.

It is unfortunate for all concerned that the immediate trial was postponed, not because there was not sufficient grounds, but because the postponement gave rise to such public suspicion. The people have grown abnormally suspicious of corruption in government circles, and the demands of the day are more and more for action which shall be open to the public in all its phases. When anything occurs which has a private look, it is considered suspicious and sinister, and the people fear a repetition of some of the dishonest manipulations of other days. The mountain in this case may dwindle into a mole hill when all the facts are fully known.

NO TIME FOR LENIENCY

There is one very regrettable aspect to the local smallpox situation, and that is the growing conviction that many cases were hidden by the relatives of those afflicted, with the result that the disease has spread much farther than it would have were each case reported as soon as suspected. Possibly the cases brought to light up to the past week or so might be excused on the ground of ignorance of the true nature of the disease, but it is inconceivable that after the wide advertisement of the contagion and its resultant public discussion, responsible people could take chances when some members of the household showed the rash that is one of the first symptoms of the disease. When it was known that many of these mingled with former cases, the margin of possible excuse becomes slight indeed.

Whatever view was taken by the health authorities up to the present, there is no excuse for those who strive to hide a smallpox patient from now on. It is well indeed that the terrible disease is here in a slight form, for the carelessness of certain parties, added to our imperfect facilities, rendered us liable to an epidemic which would have made the name of Lowell a by-word in the state. If from now on there is any tendency to hide smallpox cases, it ought to be punished to the full extent of the law. The health and reputation of the entire city are far too important to be weighed against the fine feelings of the few. Then, even for the sake of the patient and the afflicted family it is better that the case be immediately reported. The policy which would hide the diseases is as short-sighted as it is wrong in principle. Surely no doctor has had anything to do with the concealment of cases that has given us the present menace of an epidemic.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Honorary Degrees

Lynn News: In a way, these degrees serve a very useful purpose. We have no way in this country of suitably recognizing talent and achievement. Some men's work is so conspicuous that they win popular fame. But there are few in number. Other men make money. But this does not include some of our most useful citizens, who in quiet ways render conspicuous service in some particular line of effort. The honorary degree, when properly bestowed singles out these men and gives them a part of the recognition which their attainments merit. And inasmuch as we have no other way in this country of giving such recognition, the colleges perform a very useful service.

His Reserve

New Bedford Standard: John Lorance writes that in one respect the new chief magistrate is very unlike William H. Taft and Theodore Roosevelt. "If President Wilson has any newspaper intimate," writes Lorance, "the Washington correspondents do not know of him. Recently a group of the more notable and powerful ones canvassed the situation and they came to the conclusion that none existed. They compared their own experience and found that only two of them had personally seen the president and that for only a short time, and that the interview has not been productively satisfactory. It was declared that it was difficult to break through the reserve that surrounds President Wilson's demeanor."

A Public Statement

Fall River Globe: While it is highly probable that Senator Lodge was unaware of the fact that when he turned his frank over to the super [illegible] to use in the dissemination of their literature they intended to abuse the privilege by sending matter through the mails that was not entitled to be carried free because it had been surreptitiously doctored. Nevertheless, it would seem to be his duty to make a public statement to that effect and to repudiate their trickery. Otherwise people will be warranted in assuming that he was a party to the irregular proceeding.

Parades

Haverhill Gazette: The interest felt in the recent parade of woman suffragists at New York, suggests what a factor processions are in American life. From the elephants, tigers and calliope in the circus parade, to the political torchlight, the procession is the typical American public festival. Considering that the people have been parading over since they were big enough to march with a lunch basket in line for the Sunday school picnic it is perhaps singular that these processions are not more effective. The one idea seems to be bigness; the more tired the spectator gets, the more successful the show. A parade is really fine art, where groups are arranged with an eye for harmonies and variety of color.

Sing Sing

Nashua Telegraph: Incontrovertible details show that the cells are unfit for the housing of animals, much less human beings. In many of them the sunlight never penetrates and there are many others where it enters only for a brief moment of the day. The cell house is only a few feet above tide-water and in the ground tiers the hand will be wet by simply drawing it over the walls. The cell provides less than half the cubic airspace required by law for the inmates of a common lodging house and this is atrociously inadequate for the housing of the condemned men. Moreover within the last two years the crowding in the prison has pressed far over the calculated capacity for twelve hundred convicts.

Currency Bills

Lawrence Telegram: Whether Wilson has found the cure for our currency ills or not remains to be seen. But this much he may be sure of the country as a whole will welcome any honest and intelligent attempt on the part of the party in power to improve our currency laws. They are admittedly cumbersome, ineffective in times of panic and in the opinion of many accelerators of a panic when it is once under way, whereas they should be retarders of it.

Incurable

Manchester Mirror: Many diseases which long seemed incurable are now successfully treated. For centuries centuries the plague, the smallpox, rabies, tuberculosis and swift, sure diphtheria carried with them the sentence of death, but men sought patiently and persistently for effective ways to fight these dreadful foes of humanity, even sacrificing their lives in unselfish zeal; and as a result we have vaccination, inoculation and antitoxin, and millions once deemed incurable are saved.

PLEADS FOR BETTER NAVY

Adm. Dewey Wants More Ships and Men

WASHINGTON, June 25.—An adequate American navy means a fleet second only to that of Great Britain, and "inadequacy is an invitation to war," in the opinion of Admiral Dewey, ranking naval officer of the United States.

"I believe it is the duty of each generation to pay its own insurance and not to thrust its burdens on the generations that come after; and the insurance for peace is a navy strong enough to compel it," says the admiral in an article written for the program for Navy Day at Newport, R. I., July 2, and made public yesterday.

Annual Outing Held This Year Was Different From Those That Have Preceded It

As is the custom with this unique organization of giving its members an outing in the early summer, this year's affair consisted of an automobile trip to Bass Point, Nahant, each one taking his choice of seats. When the last machine reached the goal and all had prepared for dinner the party marched into one of the private rooms of the Relay House, where they remained several hours for hours, which was reached about 11:30, all agreeing that the trip had been greatly enjoyed.

CLOSING EXERCISES HELD

At Immaculate Conception School

THE 33D ANNUAL ENTERTAINMENT OF THIS SCHOOL

Very Creditable Showing Made by the Scholars—Reflecting Credit on the Devoted Teachers

The Immaculate Conception school hall was packed to its capacity last night to witness the 33rd commencement exercises of the school. The program was a lengthy one and of very exceptional merit, as the older and younger pupils seemed to vie with each other in doing justice to the thoroughness of their training. The audience was unusually appreciative, and there was continual applause from the beginning of the exercises until their conclusion.

The Immaculate Conception school has been very successful in reaching a high educational standard. In recent years pupils who have been trained there have afterwards won high honors in the high school. The reason for this is not hard to find if we regard the excellence of last night's program as being indicative of the untiring energy with which the good sisters attend to their important duties in educating the children of the parish in both religious and secular subjects.

The program complete was as follows:

Joe Donahue again batted out a victory for Dartmouth with his timely double against Amherst. Joe also landed on the ball for a triple which brought home a run. The game was the feature of the Dartmouth commencement day exercises and the Lowell boy wound up his college career in a blaze of glory.

Jimmy Callahan, manager of the Chicago White Sox, was again chased into the club house yesterday by Umpire Hildebrand when he attempted to argue a decision. Callahan ought to know what is coming to him by this time when he tries to talk over a decision in his customary manner with Mr. Hildebrand. This umpire seems to be watching the White Sox manager during the entire game with an eye out for a suitable excuse to banish him. He will not tolerate Callahan's loud tactics for a minute.

Fall River will be the attraction here Friday and Saturday. Two games are scheduled for Saturday afternoon at Spaulding park. Lowell has an easy four days this week, playing New Bedford today and tomorrow. This week is a good time to pick up some of that lost ground.

A young man named Egan, whose first name is Joe, could never be considered exactly a spendthrift. Egan has a nice fat bank account and knows just how to hang onto it. This same boxer is only a mere youth. He has not been in the ring two years yet, has fought over fifty battles, has never received an unfavorable decision or been knocked out, and withal is not yet 20 years of age. Eddie Mack makes no bones about saying that Egan, providing he takes care of himself, will be the lightweight champion within two years. Step this way, Mr. Kennedy!

"Mahoney Day" at Lawrence yesterday was celebrated with quite a great deal of pomp in the down river city. Mayor Barry of Cambridge, Mahoney's home town, was present with a delegation of fans from that city and the Lawrence third baseman received several presentations. Mahoney came through and won the game for his club when he sprinted home from second on White's short single.

Fall River lost the first game of a double-header to New Bedford yesterday by being shut out, 9 to 0. Now listen to this—Fall River got 8 hits, 1 of them a double, five bases on balls, sent a man to first on a dead ball and yet could not score a run. This is certainly a remarkable performance. Fourteen men to reach first base and not a man cross the plate. Clohecy's warriors are not what might be called heady base runners to say the least.

It looks on paper as though the American tennis team would clean up for the other racket swingers in the international struggle now going on in England for the Dwight F. Davis trophy. McLoughlin, Johnson, Williams, and Biddle are a quartet which will, barring accidents, bring home the trophy to America.

Detroit sadly missed Cobb's services yesterday in their double-header with Cleveland. High, Tyrus' understudy, is a good ball player, but is not in the same class as the Georgia Peach, of course. Cobb is not seriously injured and may be in the lineup today.

AMATEUR BASEBALL

The Rambler A. C. of upper Broadway would like to challenge any 14 or 15 year old team in the city. Send all challenges to Bill Doyle, 23 Phillips street. "Duke" Rutledge, who holds down the initial corner says: "If we can't beat any 14 or 15 year old team in the city I'll bite my name in my shirt." We have beaten such teams as St. Columba's, St. Patrick's Junior Holy Name and the Burnsides.

LOWELL ON LONG END

Brockton Was Outhit and Beaten for 2nd Time

Lowell batted Swormstedt hard yesterday in the third and sixth innings and batted out a 7 to 4 win over Brockton Zelser pitched good ball up to the seventh but in this period began to show signs of weakness and was replaced by Adams. The latter held Brockton runless for the last three innings.

Brockton put one run across in the first on a pass, a sacrifice and a hit. Lowell came into her own in the third and scored two runs. Thereafter the local team was never headed. In the fifth another run was chalked up for Lowell on two hits and a sacrifice and in the sixth the Lowell team batted around with three runs coming home. Lowell's last run was made in the ninth when two hits and a sacrifice sent Rube DeGroff across the platter with the last run of the game.

Lowell got fourteen hits, batting Swormstedt to all corners of the lot in his two bad innings. DeGroff and Daly hit safely three times, each connecting with a timely double. Flaherty and Maloney did Brockton's heavy stick work. Brockton played a very loose game in the field while Lowell's two misplays were not costly. Aubrey stole the base which was pilfered in the game. The score:

Theatre Voyons

There is no form of sport as exciting as a bullfight and the form of contest as practiced in France is the very limit of thrills. Today the Theatre Voyons shows motion pictures of one taken in Les Landes in which a dozen or more unarmed men contest with a bull in the ring. "Law and Outlaw," a two-reel Selig feature, is some thriller. In fact, in more than a dozen places there are enough thrills for a whole reel of ordinary pictures.

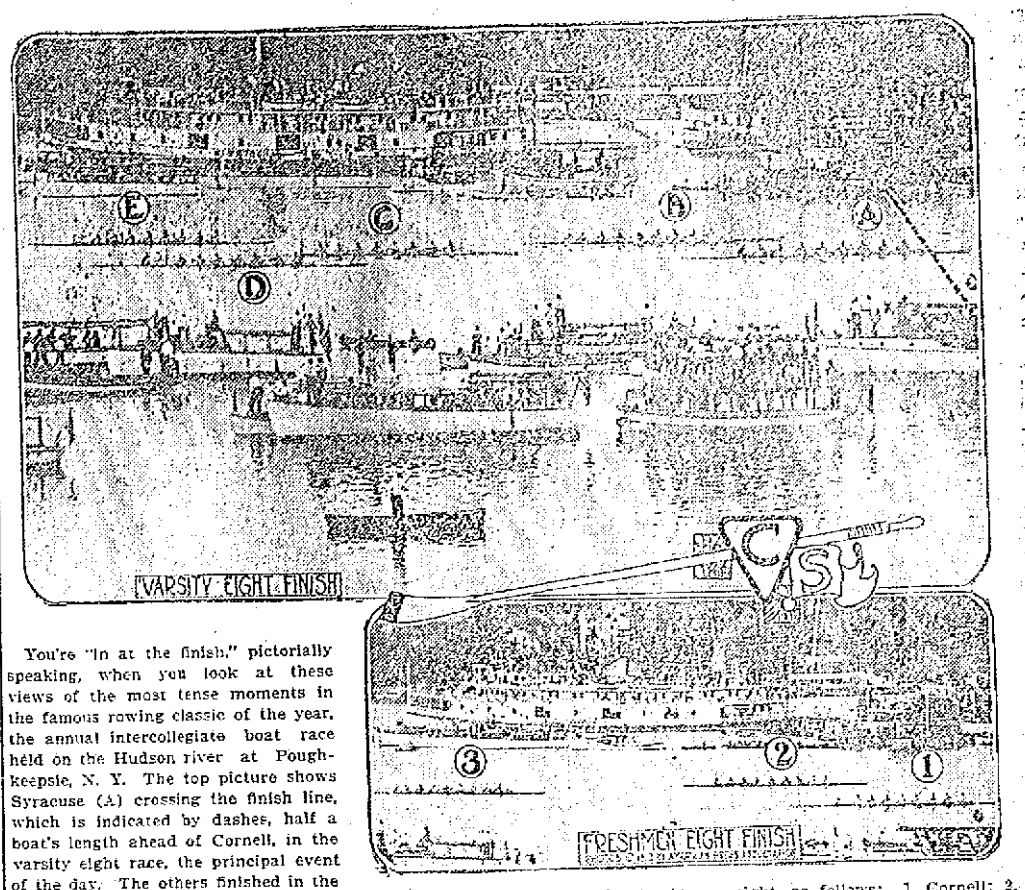
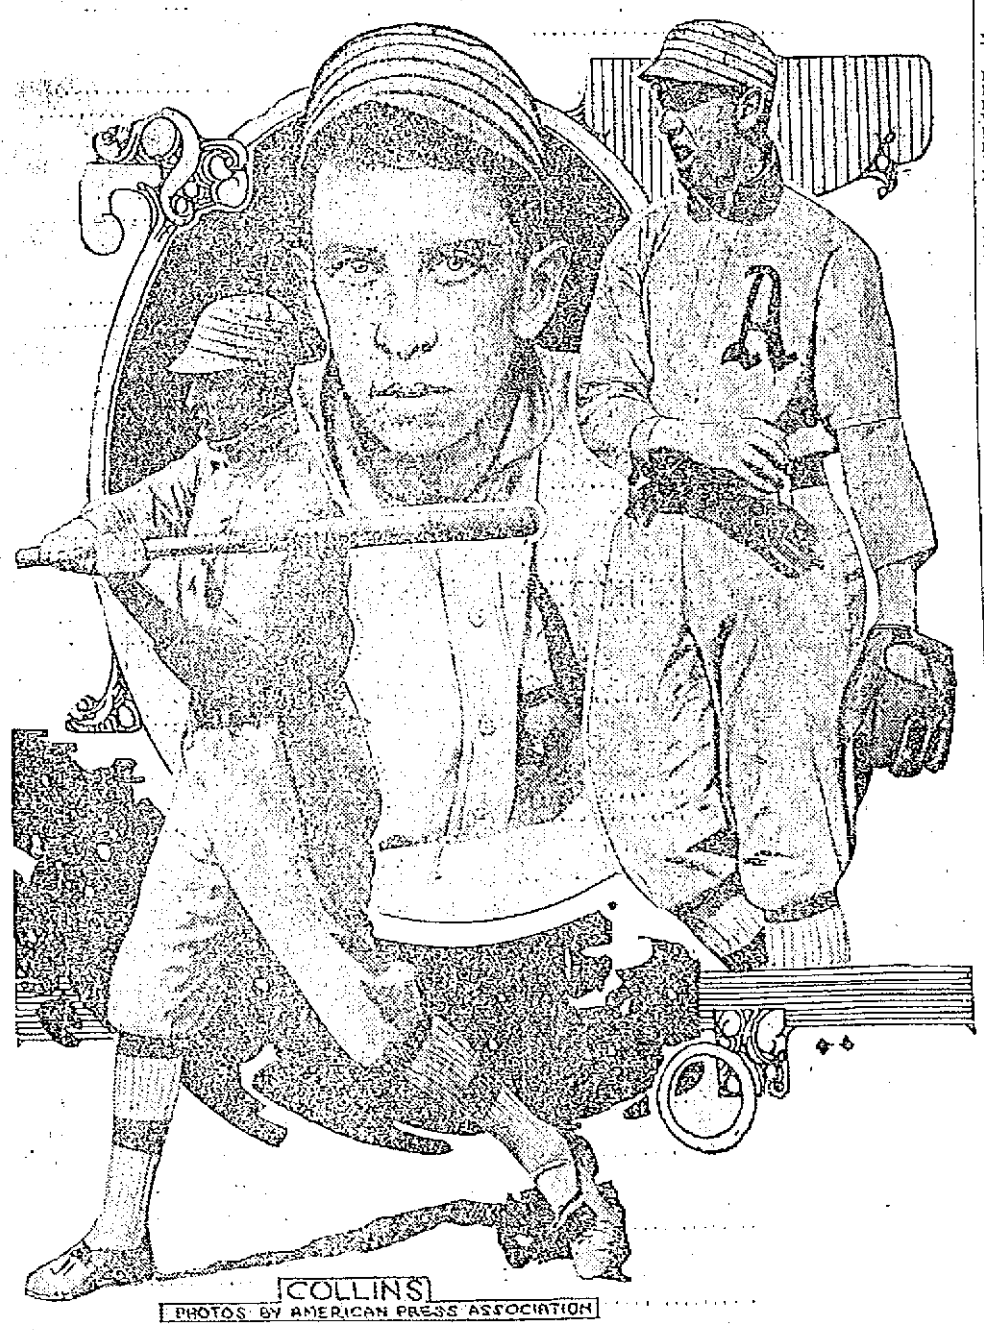
EXCITING FINISHES OF PRINCIPAL RACES BY COLLEGE CREWS AT POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y.



You're "in at the finish," pictorially speaking, when you look at these views of the most tense moments in the famous rowing classic of the year, the annual intercollegiate boat race held on the Hudson river at Poughkeepsie, N. Y. The top picture shows Syracuse (A) crossing the finish line, which is indicated by dashes, half a boat's length ahead of Cornell, in the varsity eight race, the principal event of the day. The others finished in the order shown in the picture, indicated as follows: (C) Washington, (D) Wisconsin and (E) Columbia. Pennsylvania was a poor sixth and did not get in the picture. In the lower illustration is shown the finish of the freshman eight, as follows: 1, Cornell; 2, Wisconsin; 3, Syracuse. The others straggled in later.

THREE VIEWS OF EDDIE COLLINS, ATHLETICS' GREAT SECOND BASEMAN



If the Athletics win the American league pennant this year most of the credit for the team's success must be given Eddie Collins, the Mackmen's star second baseman. Since the start of the campaign Eddie's brilliant all around playing has been the feature of the Athletics' games. According to the latest figures procurable, Collins is tickling the pill at a .357 step, being a close fourth to Ty Cobb, Joe Jackson and Tris Speaker with the Bludgeon. He stands second to Milan in stolen bases, is second to Joe Jackson in bringing runs over the plate and is also third to Jackson and Tris Speaker in extra bases, which, speaking by and large, is averaging up some class. Collins' all around work this season has been a more potent factor than any other individual asset possessed by the Athletics in keeping the team at the top at a time when the pitching, with few exceptions, has been largely unkempt and threadbare throughout, and he has been the principal instigator along the San Johnson trail in perpetrating assaults on the home plate. This isn't merely a flash, but is running true to form as based on past performances. Starting as a regular in the Big show in 1909, Eddie finished second to Cobb in batting with an average of .346, also finished second to Cobb in stolen bases with sixty-seven and led the second basemen of the American league in fielding. In the following year Eddie again led the second baseman in fielding, set a new record in stolen bases with eighty-one and finished with a batting average of .322. In the world series of that year against the Cubs he pelted the pill for an average of .429 and practically stymied the Cub defense with his work on the bases. In 1911 Collins led the second baseman for the third consecutive time, batted .365 and stole thirty-eight bases, while he finished last season with a batting average of .348 and pilfered sixty-three bases, twice accomplishing the feat of stealing six bases in a single game. Collins' grand total for four years he has been a regular on the Athletics is a batting average of .345 for the period, compiled from 735 hits that have included ninety-three doubles, thirty-eight triples and nine home runs, and he has stolen a total of 249 bases and led the second basemen in fielding in three of his four seasons, finishing second to Maurice Rath in this respect last season.

Merrimack Square Theatre

Herb Webster, Lowell's popular baritone, who is singing in a brace of songs as a feature of this week's bill is making a great hit with the large crowds attending the Merrimack Square theatre. He is favorably known here and his large circle of friends are on hand at the different performances to welcome him back and enjoy his work. Carter & Evans, a clever pair have a routine that's enjoyable and the Lambert Bros. in a little bit of everything present a lively twenty minutes in which banjo playing, dancing, and piano playing form a prominent part.

The pictures for the first three days include "A Child of War," a film that's as good if not better than any other like photo-plays and is shown in conjunction with other interesting subjects. Next week the feature in the vaudeville line is to be Lowell's biggest favorite, Donald Meek.

UNLAWFUL PRACTICES

Rebating is Charged Against United Shoe

BOSTON, June 25.—Rebating was added to the list of unlawful practices charged against the United Shoe Machinery Co. at the resumption of the dissolution proceedings in the United States district court today.

William S. Gregg, special assistant to the United States attorney general, showed, by means of a copy of minutes of a meeting of the United's executive committee on Jan. 29, 1900, that on motion of James J. Storrow, one of the directors, a vote was passed granting a rebate to shoe manufacturers equal to the amount of royalty paid on a flexible insole stitching machine during the quarter on which the rebate should be made.

Mr. Gregg also showed by the testimony of Harold Denham, secretary of the United company, that, according to the census of 1910, there were about 1300 shoe manufacturers in the United States. Mr. Denham, however, testified that the number had been estimated as high as 1500.

Mr. Gregg informed the court that the government expected to close its case tomorrow, but that it would have to introduce some testimony later regarding the patents involved.

TO OUST PRES. MELLEN

Reported the New Haven Head Must Go

BOSTON, June 25.—President Chas. S. Mellen is to be deposed as head of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad, according to a rumor current throughout banking circles and State street last night.

Strength was added to this report when it became known that Morgan & Co., their allied interests and the Pennsylvania railroad had turned their voting proxies to the New Haven stockholders' committee.

This committee is composed of men opposed to the Mellen regime. The action is taken to indicate that the Morgans, financial backers of the New Haven system, have withdrawn their support from Mr. Mellen. A reorganization of the railroad is expected.

Those who are familiar with the inside history of the corporation believe that the policy of expansion advocated by Mr. Mellen, and propounded by him, together with the downward trend of the stock, are responsible for the action.

Primary Bill Beaten

ALBANY, N. Y., June 25.—Governor Sulzer's direct primary bill last night went down to defeat in the assembly for the second time this year.

BOY FOUND UNDER BED

Captured After Fight—Held for Grand Jury

BOSTON, June 25.—John Leahey, the 18-year-old youth who was captured early yesterday morning by Adolphus Roy of 495 Athens street, South Boston, after he had fought and escaped from Mary Roy, 15, when she found him under her bed, is believed by the police to be the man who has during the past month entered a dozen South Boston homes. He was held in $1000 bail for the grand jury.

The police think that his name is fictitious and do not believe that he resides at 19 Mt. Vernon street, Dorchester, the address which he gave them. Nearly a dozen counts for breaking and entering will be preferred against him, it is expected, when he comes before the grand jury.

Big Torpedo Boat Tested

ROCKLAND, Me., June 25.—The torpedo boat destroyer Cassin, larger by one-quarter than any destroyer previously built for the American navy, successfully completed its standardization trials over the Rockland course last night.

POISON GIRL TO MARRY

Lovers Were Reunited in Malden Hospital

BOSTON, June 25.—The engagement of Miss Susan McLaughlin, the 19-year-old Malden girl whose attempt at suicide a week ago by taking 15 grains of bichloride of mercury caused widespread interest, to Ernest Bennett, a Dorchester young man, living at 5 Moody street, was announced yesterday.

Members of the family gave out the news. The girl will leave the Malden hospital early this evening in a taxicab for her home at 35 Bryant street. Exactly one week later, Miss McLaughlin and Mr. Bennett will be wed, probably in Malden.

The girl and boy fell in love several months ago, while Mrs. McLaughlin was visiting her sister, Mrs. Bennett, the mother of the boy. Since that time until a few weeks ago the young couple could not be separated. Suddenly the boy ceased to write to his waiting sweetheart in Malden, and the girl, thinking that her lover had forgotten her, and being erroneously told that the law forbade marriage between cousins, became despondent and took the mercury tablets.

RAGING FOREST FIRE

$25,000 Worth of Timber Destroyed

PORTLAND, Me., June 25.—Word reached here last evening telling of a raging forest fire that threatens the villages of Steep Falls, Richville and Harmonville and has already destroyed more than $25,000 worth of standing timber. It is beyond control and is being fought by the men, women and children of the three villages, besides a crew sent out by the Maine Central railroad. Help has been summoned from other villages in the vicinity.

WATCH PRES. WILSON

Executive May Smash Another Precedent

WASHINGTON, June 25.—Members of the house are waiting eagerly to see whether President Wilson will smash another precedent and attend a meeting of the Lincoln Memorial bridge commission, of which he is a member in the house end of the capitol instead of calling the members to the executive offices. A meeting of the committee is scheduled for this week.

While the president has frequently used his room in the senate wing of the big building for consultations with members of both bodies he has thus far confined his appearances in the precincts of the house to the two times he read his messages to the joint session. If he puts in an appearance at the committee meeting he will have toppled over another tradition.

The commission was named by the previous session of congress to investigate and report on the cost and design of a bridge to span the Potomac river from near the site of the Lincoln memorial and the Arlington national cemetery. Besides the president, Vice-President Marshall, Speaker Clark, Senator Swanson and Representative Clark of Florida constitute the commission.

RUSSIAN FLYING SQUADS

Minister of War Wants Every Corps Equipped

ST. PETERSBURG, June 25.—Development of the aerial armament of Russia is making immense progress, according to the chief of the army staff, who today during a debate in the duma related some interesting details of what had been done in this direction. He said the ministry of war would not rest until a flying squad had been established in every army corps. The government, he continued, had doubled the number of dirigibles recently. It had acquired airships, known as aerial dreadnoughts, which were provided with machine guns, bomb throwers and wireless telegraphy. It was true, he concluded, that this German army possessed eleven dirigibles but only eight of them came up to the standard of the six Russian army dirigibles.

GEN. OJEDA FORCED BACK

War Dept. Reports That He Retreated

MEXICO CITY, June 25.—War department officials today conceded the truth of the report that General Pedro Ojeda, who has been leading the federal forces against the insurgents in Sonora, had been forced to retreat to the seaport of Guaymas. Recently it was reported that General Ojeda had been successful in driving the rebels back to their base of supplies at Ortiz.

ANNUAL MUSTER

Of New England Veteran Firemen's Association May Be Held In This City Late in August

President James H Walker of the Lowell Butler Vets and his associates, are very anxious to have the New England Veteran Firemen's Association hold its annual muster in this city. The muster is to be held the latter part of August. Chelsea is a bidder for the event, too, but Mr. Walker allows that if the Butler Vets can succeed in corralling the amount necessary to pull off a muster, about $1500, the big squirt will be held in Lowell.

WILSON'S MESSAGE

ERUPTION ON BABY'S BODY AND FACE

Pimples Formed Scabs, Itching So Great Could Not Sleep. Had to Tie His Hands. Completely Cured by Cuticura Soap and Ointment.

69 Walnut St., Northampton, Mass.—"My baby was afflicted with a skin disease for a couple of months. The trouble commenced with pimples, which, after breaking, formed scabs which became so large that a five cent piece could not be placed on any part of the body except in the hair. His body and face were covered with scabs, and the itching was so great that the baby could not get any sleep either day or night. He had such a fever that he could hardly eat, and we had to tie up his hands because he scratched continually. After washing the child morning and evening with Cuticura Soap and applying the Cuticura Ointment for about three weeks he was completely cured.

"My little boy, two years old, was playing near the stove and put his hand inadvertently on the stove, which was almost red. It made a wound the size of a 25c. piece. At once my wife thought of the excellent Cuticura Ointment and after an application of it the child no longer felt the effects of the fire." (Signed) F. X. Langlais, May 11, 1912.

Cuticura Soap 25c. and Cuticura Ointment 50c. are sold everywhere. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

☞Men who shave and shampoo with Cuticura Soap will find it best for skin and scalp.

MANUEL QUESON RESIGNS

As Commissioner of the Philippine Islands

WASHINGTON, June 25.—Manuel Quezon, resident commissioner for the Philippine islands in congress, has resigned from the executive committee of the Philippine society and also as a member because he is not in sympathy with the announced purposes of the society nor with the course he says has been pursued by the society's officers and members in the affairs of the islands.

Former President Taft is the honorary president of the organization and the active president is General Luke Wright, former governor general of the islands. The headquarters are in New York.

Queson, in his letter of resignation, writes that he joined the society with the honest belief that he could aid in the promotion of its announced purpose "to create a more sympathetic interest between the American and Filipino people." He soon suspected, he goes on to say, that the real object was to create a public opinion in favor of the indefinite retention of the islands by the United States.

2 TARIFF AMENDMENTS

On Administrative Provisions Opposed

WASHINGTON, June 25.—Two far-reaching amendments to the administrative provisions of the tariff bill aroused opposition in the democratic senate caucus today.

One was prohibiting importation of any goods, except immediate products of agriculture forests and fisheries, wholly or in part manufactured by children under 14 years old. That provision was declared by many senators to be the most drastic protective measure any manufacturer could ask for; greater as a protection against foreign competition than high tariff rates.

The amendment to grant the U. S. court of appeals concurrent jurisdiction with the customs court in customs cases involving more than $100 also aroused attention. Some democrats thought the proposals an entering wedge toward elimination of the customs court.

DRYDOCK AT NORFOLK, VA.

Effort to Pass Authorization Through Congress

WASHINGTON, June 25.—Vigorous efforts will be made to force through congress at the opening of the regular session in December an authorization for the construction of a gigantic drydock at Norfolk, Va., capable of accommodating the largest dreadnaught. The cost, it is estimated, would be approximately $3,000,000. Representative Holland of Virginia already has a bill before the house naval affairs committee.

21 STRIKERS CONVICTED

PATERSON, N. J., June 25.—Sixteen men and five women who were active in recent silk striker disturbances were convicted by a county court jury yesterday on charges of unlawful assemblage. The defendants interfered with strikers returning to work, it was charged.

Judge Klenert sentenced them to three months each in the county jail.

His June Piano Sale Now On

HIS GREAT PIANO SALES

A Piano Sale here is always a sacrifice, always a bargain sale, always a mark-down sale. The very nature of business, as the public knows, is one of sacrifice. The business here is not conducted like the business of a regular Piano store down town, where they are expected to make a profit on each piano—where they get their profit DIRECTLY out of the sale of pianos. We don't let any piano loaf around on the floor of the Roxbury Storage Salesrooms—it comes in DUE TIME, a Sacrifice tag is clapped on it, be it high grade, low grade or middle grade, and it is sold to the first man or woman who wants it for the price marked on the tag—not a cent more or less. The selling price is made on the Roxbury Storage Salesrooms "Expense percentage" basis, and is figured to let the accounts out clean and clear without regard to profit—so you can see easily by this statement how these sales must necessarily be sacrifices. Someone's loss is your gain.

The gilded piano stores, with their costly appointments, their high salaried sales agents, their sellers' commissions, etc., are no places for the economical piano buyer to go to. Take the trouble to look around a little, go up where the rents are not high and buy your piano right.

M'NAB REPLIES TO PRES. WILSON

Says Vindication of Atty. General McReynolds Does Not Change the Facts

SAN FRANCISCO, June 25.—Late last night former District Attorney McNab gave out a formal statement in part as follows:

"The president has accepted my resignation and the incident is closed. Even the eminent respectability of the president and his followers and his fulsome but necessary vindication of the character of the attorney-general do not change the facts.

"The attorney-general had before him my repeated warnings that political corruption was at work, that subornation of perjury had been practiced and that if the Caminetti-Diggs case were continued the evidence would be destroyed and the power of the government to convict would be destroyed. He was informed that this office would be directly charged with corruption if the cases were postponed. With indifference to the rights of this office and the honor of the department of justice he continued the case until autumn.

"The president announces that the department of justice will make great haste to try those cases. Why is it necessary to hasten now when it was unnecessary to make haste a week ago?"

"The attorney-general cheerfully ordered the continuance of these cases in spite of the charge of corruption in order that this office might bear the stain. He approved all the evidence against the two western fuel directors whom he now practically acquits. One of these wealthy defendants after securing a continuance entered his office and the evidence immediately became insufficient.

"This matter has never been of personality. It is simply a question of principle. If my resignation from office and the consequent rousing of public opinion will accomplish the result of convicting these flagrant offenders against the laws of the country then I will feel that the effort has not been in vain."

CASE OF CRUELTY TO A CHILD

In Which Parents Denied Having Inflicted the Wounds—Man Held in $2000

One of the most pitiful cases of child abuse ever tried before the local court was called this morning when James and Mary McKeon, charged with cruelly beating the 8-year-old daughter of the former, were arraigned before Judge Enright. The little girl, with dull, sorrowful eyes, sat by the side of the matron of the police station while Dr. Livingston related to the court what his examination of her had revealed. In all, he said, she had 23 black and blue marks upon her body which had been inflicted by very severe blows as the marks were very plain eight days after the child had suffered her punishment. Her left eye still showed where a blow had blackened it and her left ear, the physician testified, was in very bad shape when he first saw her.

The matron also testified that she had examined the abused child and her testimony corroborated that of Dr. Livingston's in every particular. Lawyer O'Connor, who appeared for the defence, tried to show that the marks could have been inflicted by a fall, but Dr. Livington was not ready to admit that all of the contusions could be made by the child's falling.

Both defendants took the stand and testified that they had never struck the little girl. The man said that he never punished her while the stepmother told the court that she shook her husband's child whenever she needed chastisement. Judge Enright delivered a scathing lecture to both defendants but said that inasmuch as they had five children depending upon them for sustenance he did not see how he could sentence them to imprisonment. He found them both guilty and continued the case for a week for sentence.

John B. Clancy's Case

John B. Clancy's nerve evidently failed him today for he did not argue his case himself, but employed John H. McEvoy, Esq., as counsel. He was fined $10 for operating a stable without a license and had never a word to say until sentence was imposed. Then with his best oratorical manner he arose and said, "I appeal." His case will be heard in the superior court if his courage does not fail him again. J. Joseph Hennessy, Esq., prosecuted the case.

John F. Harmon pleaded guilty to the non-support of his minor child. His wife testified that the defendant had not lived with her since last July and that she had received no support from him since that time. Her mother testified to the same thing. The defendant was ordered to pay $4 a week toward his child's support with a sentence of five months to the house of correction hanging over his head in case he does not live up to the order of the court.

The case of James Saugulas and John Costelas, charged with disturbing the peace, will be heard tomorrow. J. Joseph Hennessy, Esq., appeared for the defendant.

The fourth and last man, whom the police claim did the stabbing in Monday night's near riot was brought into court this morning and arraigned on the same charge as the other three, assault with intent to murder.

Allie Accarry was the name he answered to. He was held in $2000 bail for his appearance on the morning of July 3d.

Charles Reynolds, Thomas McLaughlin and Mary J. Bryden all received jail sentences for drunkenness. The period that each will spend on Thorndike street is three months.

John Caulombe, a man who was arrested in a boarding house on Tremont street last night, pleaded guilty to drunkenness. His case was continued until Saturday.

John Gill, Sadie Ward and Michael Cassidy, all received 6 fines for their second appearance for drunkenness.

GRADUATION AT VARNUM SCHOOL

Three Historic Pictures Presented to the School

Addresses of Interest and a Fine Program

In spite of the high temperature last evening, the hall of the Varnum school was crowded with people who came to witness the closing exercises of the graduating class. The occasion was signalized by the presentation to the school of three large portraits respectively of Benjamin Franklin Varnum, General Joseph Bradley Varnum and Mrs. Molly Butler Varnum, all three of the above having been intimately connected with the early history of Lowell and Dracut.

The first was presented by John Marshall Varnum of Boston having been painted in 1841. The second was given through the generosity of the graduates of the Varnum school and was painted by Mrs. Nathan Fulsifer, daughter of John I. Coggeshall and herself a gifted artist. The portrait of General Varnum was painted by Mr. Coggeshall. It was presented by Adjt. General Pearson, the three paintings are of great historic and artistic value.

Mr. John Marshall Varnum, who is a lineal descendant of the Varnums, who figured so prominently with the early history of the city, delivered the address of presentation and presented the portrait of Sheriff Benjamin Franklin Varnum, which by the way, was painted in 1841, and his speech was of the greatest interest being replete with historic facts about early Lowell and Dracut. Mr. Varnum traced the lives of the Varnums of old through the various noteworthy events, starting with Samuel Varnum, father of Joseph Bradley Varnum, the school being named after the latter. Joseph Bradley Varnum was born about the year 1752 in Dracut said John Marshall Varnum and received the education afforded by the rude schools of that day. When a young men, he took up farming as an occupation and throughout his entire life pointed with pride to that fact. In 1773 he married Molly, daughter of Jacob and Mary Eames Butler of Pelham, and she proved an admirable helpmate to him throughout the greater portion of his life. In his autobiography he pays her a glowing tribute, telling how she aided the soldiers in the war, depriving herself to do so.

Young Varnum had a stout military spirit and spent considerable time watching military maneuvers when opportunity presented itself. He was one of the 81 Dracut men, who answered the call for minute men in 1775 and marched to the scene of the Concord fight. Varnum, young as he was, was the only man who had any real knowledge of military tactics and he took command of the company of minute men, instructing them.

He saw considerable service during the war, being drawn in 1777 to reinforce the Northern army with his company and was in the battle of Saratoga. In 1778 his company was dispatched to Rhode Island where the British were devastating plantations. Limited space prohibits mention of all of the other engagements in which General Varnum took part. His military services lasted from 1776 to 1824. In 1781 he received a second commission as captain from Governer Hancock, he was commissioned colonel in 1787, brigadier general in 1802, and Maj. general in 1805, in which rank he was at the time of his death.

His political career was most remarkable:

From 1781 to 1785 he represented his native town in the state legislature. From 1786 to 1795 he was a senator from Middlesex county; and again, after his congressional career had ended, from 1817 to the year of his death in 1821. In 1795 he was elected a member of the fourth session of the National house of representatives, the seat of government being then at Philadelphia.

He served in the national house from 1796 to 1851, and was twice chosen to preside over that body. His vote as speaker in the Miranda case decided the doctrine of non-intervention and saved our country from a war with Spain. He was an ardent supporter of President Jefferson's administration.

He was especially prominent in the senate, being chairman of the committee on military affairs besides holding other offices. In 1808 he was nominated for governor and in 1813 for governor, being defeated both times, his only political defeats.

"As to his personality," said Mr. John Marshall Varnum, "I am proud to refer you to the portrait which is to hang on the walls of this institution." It is a copy of that which adorns the national house of representatives, being presented by the state to congress.

Of Benjamin Franklin Varnum, youngest son of General Varnum, Mr. John Marshall spoke in detail. He was born in 1795 and educated at Westford academy. He too, came into prominence. He was one of the selectmen of Dracut. He represented his native town in the state legislature in 1824 and 1825. During the subsequent years up to 1831 he was senator from Middlesex county. He had acquired a practical knowledge of surveying, and in 1826 was appointed a member of the commission to settle the boundary line between Massachusetts and New Hampshire, a vexed question which had been in dispute since 1741, when Dracut, among other border towns, lost much territory. He served for many years as a member of the first board of county commissioners. In 1831 he was appointed sheriff of Middlesex county, the most populous in the state. His efforts in behalf of Dracut and Central Village were untiring and his ambition was to make it a delightful spot for dwellings and in this he succeeded to a great degree. He died in 1841.

Mr. Coggeshall

In presenting the painting of Mrs. Molly Varnum, painted by his daughter, Mr. John I. Coggeshall spoke of his own early school days, saying that the schools which he attended were located with a view to picturesqueness rather than to convenience, it seemed. He spoke of the deep interest which he has in the Varnum school, for his daughter was a graduate of the institution, and said further that his daughter whose love for the school was very strong wishing to give some token of remembrance presented the picture of Molly Varnum.

Gen. Gardner W. Pearson

The presentation of the portrait of Gen. Joseph Bradley Varnum was made by Adjutant General Gardner W. Pearson, class of 1882, who also presented the state flag which was purchased with the surplus funds raised by the graduates. He dwelt on the historic associations which the paintings will always recall and paid a high compliment to the work of the school.

Acceptance

Acceptance of all of the gifts was made by Mr. Henry H. Harris, master of the school, who spoke very briefly in gratitude to the graduates and to the other donors.

Address to Graduates

In addressing the graduates, Solon W. Stevens, Esq., took for his topic the motto of the class which is "Aim to Excel", and offered words of advice and encouragement to the young people which will be useful to them in their work. In speaking of their entering the high school, he said that if they study diligently there, they will receive a better education in the Lowell High school than could be obtained in any of the colleges of the commonwealth 30 years ago. He congratulated the boys and girls as did all of the other speakers and paid a tribute to the Varnum school.

Presentation of Diplomas

The presentation of the diplomas was made by Mr. John C. Farrington of the school committee who congratulated the graduates and paid a high compliment to the Varnum school. He expressed the hope that in years to come this graduating class would reflect credit on its Alma Mater and hold it in as grateful remembrance as do the classes who have gone before.

Well Satisfied

Many of the tenants of the new Sun building say they would sooner think of going out of business than return to their former locations.

IN HONOR OF ST. JOHN

French Flag Displayed on Sun Building

Yesterday was the feast of St. John, patron saint of the French speaking people, and the only building in this city where the French flag floated in the breeze was The Sun building, and accordingly, the daily French newspaper of Lowell, "Le Supplement," had the following item in yesterday's issue, relative to the floating of the French flag on Lowell's skyscraper.

"The many French people who went outdoors today remarked with pleasure and pride that our national flag was floating from the mast of the magnificent structure of the 'Lowell Sun.'

"Many were wondering, and not without reason, why our national flag occupied such a place of honor, and also why it was displayed all day long on the quarters of our English-speaking contemporary. The reason is simple. Since the new and splendid home of The Sun, the only skyscraper in the city, was finished, the proprietor, Mr. John H. Harrington, has made it his business to have the flags of the various nationalities float from the mast of the high building on their respective festival days, and be it said that Mr. Harrington's idea is a wise one."

WILSON AND M'REYNOLDS CONFER

Meet to Select Special Prosecutor for the Caminetti-Diggs White Slave Case

WASHINGTON, June 25.—President Wilson and Attorney General McReynolds had an early conference today to select a special prosecutor for the Caminetti-Diggs white slave case and the Western Fuel Co. indictments in the federal courts in San Francisco.

The attitude of White House officials today in declining to comment on the latest declarations of the federal grand jury in San Francisco and the attacks of former United States Attorney McNabb upon Attorney General McReynolds for his postponement of the prosecutions was that the action of the president and the attorney general in ordering the cases to trial speaks for itself. It was the official view that however mistaken Mr. McReynolds' cursory view of the situation upon which he ordered postponement, his action was free from any unworthy motives and it was pointed out that the correspondence made public at the White House last night shows that the attorney general himself had reversed his position and was approved by the president.

President Wilson's attitude now was said at the White House to be that the selection of capable counsel to carry the cases to trial was a sufficient demonstration of the sincere wish of the administration to have a vigorous prosecution.

It is President Wilson's intention to secure Francis J. Heney, if possible, to take the cases. He is regarded as being specially desirable because he has no political interests with the administration. Secretary Lane, a personal friend of Heney's has been asked to use his influence to get the lawyer to undertake the work. That failing other prominent lawyers are mentioned as possible special prosecutors.

With the selection of a prosecutor the White House will consider the noted cases a closed incident.

POSSIBLE WATERY DEATH HOLDS NO TERROR FOR OSCAR S. STRAUS

OSCAR S. STRAUS AND L. A. VILAS IN LATTER'S "PULLMAN" FLYING BOAT. PHOTO BY AMERICAN PRESS ASSOCIATION

NEW YORK, June 25.—Oscar S. Straus, who ran for governor of New York last autumn and whose brother was one of the Titanic victims, had no hesitancy in risking his life when he went up in a hydroaeroplane, owned and run by L. A. Vilas, a rich Chicago aviator. Though Mr. Straus was reported recently so ill when he returned from a trip to Europe that he had to be carried from the ship, he showed little signs of weakness during the flight over Pelham bay with Vilas. The latter had assured him that there was no danger. Many of Mr. Straus' friends wondered why he should place himself in any position of danger as regarded a possible death in the water because of the fate that befell his brother on the Titanic. Vilas' hydroaeroplane is luxurious as flying boats go. It is fitted up in Pullman car style, with glossy mahogany finish and nickel plated fittings. It is forty feet wide and twenty-six feet long. It has a 100 horsepower motor and can go fifty-five miles an hour in the water and sixty-five miles an hour when aloft.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT AT LAWRENCE YARD

Four Men Thrown Into a Pit and Badly Injured—Two Sent to Hospital

A serious accident occurred at the Lawrence Manufacturing Company's plant this afternoon shortly after 3 o'clock in which four men were injured, one of them badly.

The men were engaged in moving in some new machinery and were working upon a high platform when the posts which supported it gave way and precipitated them into a deep pit, part of the staging falling in on top of them. It was some time before two of them could be extricated from the ruins. The ambulance was immediately called and two of the men were taken to the Lowell hospital, the other two not having been taken from the pit. Dennis Melrose of 398 Aiken street was the man most badly injured, his arms and legs being severely scraped and bruised. He is also suffering from a strained back, which may develop serious results at any moment. The other man, who was taken to the hospital, is a foreigner and nothing could be learned from him by the authorities there. He is not in such a serious condition, although badly shaken up. He struck his head in his fall and did not recover consciousness until some time after being taken to the hospital. His condition is not critical, however.

GRAMMAR SCHOOL CLOSING EXERCISES

Fine Programs Given by Pupils—Addresses by Members of the School Board

The exercises of graduation of all of the grammar schools with the exception of the Greenhalge and Varnum schools, which were held last night, and the Lincoln school, which will take place tomorrow, were held today, some in the forenoon and others in the afternoon. All of the schools were prettily decorated and fine programs were the order of the day. In the primary schools, yesterday, many delightful programs were presented and in all of the schools pupils presented their teachers with bouquets of flowers and other tokens of remembrance. All of the exercises were well attended and the programs this year, in a majority of the schools, were more elaborate than in former years. Parents and friends of the pupils were delighted with the exercises and the speakers congratulated the graduates upon the successful conclusion of their grammar school course.

SUIT AGAINST LOWELL AUTO CO.

Growing Out of Collision on Boulevard Called in Superior Court Today

At the opening of this morning's session of the superior civil court, Judge Pratt began his charge to the jury in the case of Lena C. Earle vs. Dr. Frank G. Gulliland, all of the testimony having been submitted and the arguments made by counsel before the adjournment yesterday afternoon.

Suit Against Lowell Auto Co.

The suit against the Lowell Automobile company, in which the jury recently drawn took a view, was then called. The plaintiffs are Clarence Tibbetts and his father, Albert J. Tibbets, each claim damages of $5000, totaling $10,000. Both suits will be tried as one. Plaintiffs charge that an automobile of the Lowell Automobile company struck and injured Clarence Tibbetts while the latter was riding a bicycle on the boulevard. It is said that Dan O'Dea, demonstrating salesman and instructor in driving for the company was teaching a Miss Robbins to drive an auto previously purchased from the defendant company by her father, and that the instructions were being given in accordance with an agreement made at the time of the sale.

The defense claims that the fault of the accident was with the plaintiff, who defendant alleges turned directly into the path of the machine and before the auto could be brought to a stop, they claim, the collision had occurred.

The first witness called was Mr. Fred Emerson, manager of the company, who testified in general to the sale of the machine and the conditions of the transaction.

The plaintiff, Clarence Tibbetts, was the next witness and he told his version of the accident on the boulevard. He said that after being struck by the automobile, he got up and staggered to the side of the road and was taken to the hospital by another automobile. His shoulder, wrist and side, he said, were injured and he was bruised about the face.

The plaintiff's case was still unfinished when the session adjourned in the afternoon.

Harold Varnum, Esq., for the plaintiff and Messrs. Qua, Howard and Rogers for the defense.

FIRE IN HARDWARE STORE

Lively Blaze in Middlesex Street This Morning

A dangerous fire broke out shortly after 2 o'clock this morning in Adams' hardware store in Middlesex street and an alarm was sent in from box 72 by a passerby who noticed the smoke and flame in the building. When the fire teams and men arrived upon the scene a few moments afterward, they had a difficult and dangerous task before them.

By quick and effective work the blaze was prevented from spreading.

The fire is thought to have started from defective wiring, said Chief Saunders of the fire department. The upper portion of the building is occupied by a number of lodgers and all were forced to leave the structure while the men fought the rapidly spreading flames. It is said that there was a quantity of paint and highly inflamable material in the store, but the fire did not reach this. The stock of the store was badly damaged as was the interior of the lower part of the building.

DIG BODIES OUT OF SMOULDERING RUINS

Eleven Killed and Sixty Injured in an Explosion and Fire in Buffalo—Buildings Still Burning

BUFFALO, N. Y., June 25.—Three bodies were dug out of the smouldering ruins of the Husted Milling Co. elevator this morning, two more are visible in the debris and two of the injured have succumbed, bringing the total of the death list from the explosion and fire with the four who last night were known to have perished up to 11. The bodies recovered today were so badly charred that identification was impossible.

60 in Hospitals

Tony Kruger and William Wikowsky, both of whom were frightfully burned, died at the emergency hospital. Of the 60 explosion victims in the hospitals many are so badly injured that recovery is not expected.

High up in a shattered cupola of the mill two companies of firemen are battling to recover two and possibly more bodies. From the upper windows of the concrete section of the elevator and from the Elk street viaduct the bodies are plainly visible, but great clouds of smoke from the burning rooms have kept the firemen from ascending.

Firemen poured streams of water on the ruins last night and this morning, but the debris is piled so high that it will be days before a complete search can be made.

Twenty-six Are Missing

Official checking of the list of employes of the Husted Milling Co., whose elevator was blown up by a dust explosion yesterday showed that in addition to the 11 known victims, 26 men are still unaccounted for and are believed to be in the ruins.

Search for Victims

The police started early today to make a house-to-house canvass and a tour of the hospitals where victims were taken. They were provided with lists of employes who reported for work yesterday. The canvass, completed at noon, showed that there were 44 men in hospitals, half of whom are not expected to recover; 22 were found safe or only slightly injured in their homes; 10 employes dead, not counting John Conroy, the Nickel Plate engineer, who was blown from his cab and died later at the hospital. Clifford M. Husted, superintendent of the elevator company, said this afternoon that the company's revised list of dead, injured and missing showed 26 men still unaccounted for.

Buried in Ruins

"We have been unable to get any trace of these men," he said. "It is known they were in the mill at the time of the explosion and we fear they are buried in the ruins."

Taking the police record as a basis as to the number of missing and the statement of the hospital physicians, that half of the injured have no chance of recovery, with a known dead of 11, the probable ultimate roll of the tragedy approaches three score.

Terrific Explosion

BUFFALO, N. Y., June 25.—The big grain mill and storage warehouse of the Husted Milling Company was wrecked late yesterday afternoon by an explosion. The damage will amount to $500,000.

The explosion was terrific. Windows for a quarter of a mile around were broken. The whole north wall of the immense structure was blown out. The bodies of men were hurled high in the air. An engineer in the cab of a passing train was thrown from his seat, receiving injuries which will probably be fatal. Fire following immediately after the explosion completed the work of horror. Many were killed.

SMALLPOX ZONE EXTENDED

More New Cases Reported This Morning—The Board of Health Held Special Meeting Today

Four more cases of smallpox were reported at the office of the board of health today. No new cases were reported from the French-American orphanage and the institution is under strict quarantine.

Besides the new cases reported, Dr. McAvinnue stated to the board, at a special meeting held at the noon hour today, that there were cases under observation at the block at the corner of Pawtucket and School streets. The doctor was positive that one child he had examined in the block had had the disease. The child's mother told him that two other of her children had gone out and the doctor said he would return later in the day and examine them.

The new cases reported this morning were Donalda Planta, 17; residence, 75 South street. There are 12 in the family and only three or four have been vaccinated. At least three members of the family have been working in the mills. Omer Pelletier, 5 years, 150 Fletcher street. In this case the doctors stated that the child had almost gotten over the disease and would be all right in a few days.

Rev. Fr. Watelle, O. M. I., was present by invitation, at the special meeting of the board of health held at the noon hour today, and Father Watelle assured the board that every precaution that goes with a strict quarantine was being taken at the French-American orphanage. He regretted that the board had been criticized relative to cases at the orphanage and he said the criticism was unjust, inasmuch as four representatives of the board, including doctors, were at the orphanage within an hour of the time that they received their first notice.

The question of the board's responsibility, financially, in connection with the quarantine at the orphanage, was broached and Fr. Watelle explained that the maintenance of the orphanage depended, in a great measure, upon public subscription, the donations coming, to a great extent, from persons calling there, so that the quarantine would seriously affect the financial support of the orphanage. The board took the matter under advisement.

Mayor O'Donnell was also present at the meeting and participated in a discussion relative to the price that the city should pay the doctors for vaccinating. The matter was discussed pro and con and, on suggestion of Dr. Carroll, who, though suffering intensely from an infected arm, stayed through the meeting, the question of price per head for vaccination was left open, the mayor remarking, jokingly, that while the doctors on the board would undoubtedly look after the interests of their professional brethren, he and Mr. Drury would keep a close eye on the financial end of it.

The board of health office was the scene of a sort of vaccination fest just previous to the meeting, when a physician, three attaches of the board and a reporter were vaccinated. The reporter vaccinated was The Sun's representative, so, gentle reader, if you would read smallpox news without fear of infection, read The Sun.

JUDGE JENNEY DECIDES CASE

Finds Dan Smith Company Liable For Debt of $800 to $900 Transferred to Corporation

In the bill in equity brought by Mrs. Delia Gray of Lowell, administratrix of the estate of the late Arthur L. Gray, against Dan Smith and the Dan Smith company of Lowell, seeking to hold the Dan Smith company liable for an alleged debt of between $800 and $900 due from Dan Smith to A. L. Gray, the action being brought on the ground that said Dan Smith transferred his stock in trade in a haberdashery establishment to the Dan Smith company corporation in fraud of his creditors, a decision was yesterday handed down by Judge Jenney, who heard the case in East Cambridge, in April. The court finds that the property was transferred as alleged by the plaintiff, in fraud of the creditors of Dan Smith and that the corporation, through its officers, was a party to the fraud, and Judge Jenney has ordered judgment for the plaintiff in accordance with the finding. Messrs. Qua, Howard and Rogers appeared for the plaintiff and J. J. and W. A. Hogan, Esq., for the defense.

THE SUCTION SHUTTLES

State Board of Health Powerless to Act

STATE HOUSE, Boston, June 25.—Because of the failure of Gov. Foss to name, prior to June 1 as required by the act, the members of the new state board of labor and industries, all powers of the state board of health with relation to the enforcement of laws relating to labor and its employment, including the laws prohibiting the employment of children in certain cases, the inspection and licensing of buildings for industrial purposes and the inspection and licensing of workers, are wholly suspended and there is at the present time in this commonwealth no authority to exercise the former powers of the state board of health in relation thereto, because of the fact that the statute creating the board of labor and industries transferred all such powers from the state board of health to the new board on June 1.

The matter has been brought to public notice through a request made by the Berkshire Manufacturing Co. of Adams for an extension of the time within which it is required to comply with the provisions of the act prohibiting the use of suction shuttles. The request was considered by the state board of health shortly after June 1, and the question at once arose as to whether the board still had authority over the matter and it was decided to obtain the opinion of Attorney-General James M. Swift.

The attorney general in his opinion says, in conclusion:

The provision of the act of 1912 transferring to the state board of labor and industries the functions previously performed by the state board of health, described in section 5, makes inconsistent with the provisions of the act of 1912 the provision of chapter 281 of the acts of 1911 that the state board of health shall enforce the provisions of that act.

The provision of the 1912 act took effect upon the first day of June, 1913, and upon that date the provisions of chapter 281 of the acts of 1911 which are inconsistent with the provisions of chapter 726 of the acts of 1912 were repealed.

It follows, therefore, that at the present time the state board of health has no authority to grant to the proprietor or manager of a factory an extension of time within which to make the factory comply with the provisions of chapter 281 of the acts of 1911.

Very truly yours,
James H. Swift,
Attorney-General.

cepted the gift of the graduates to the school in a neat address, congratulating the graduates. Mayor O'Donnell delivered a brief address in which he said:

"Upon this school some of you will pass on to the High school, some perhaps will avail themselves of the opportunity to receive a practical education in our new Industrial school, which I heartily commend, others seeking gratification along commercial lines will enter business or commercial institutions, while many of you will pass no further schooling, but will enter the world of business or labor with ideal hearts and willing hands to earn your livelihood. Regardless of what paths along which the future may lead you, I ask you all to strive to become efficient. It matters not whether you are to work with the ladder or the lathe, whether you are to be one the skilled craftsman or the trained nurse, the teacher or the bookkeeper, the stenographer or the salesman, who is to become efficient in your particular line, and success will crown your efforts.

Each man and woman has a place in this world and this is success enough to go around. Go after it from the right end and be a credit to your parents, your school, your city and yourselves. I wish you all a pleasant vacation and a healthful happy and prosperous future.

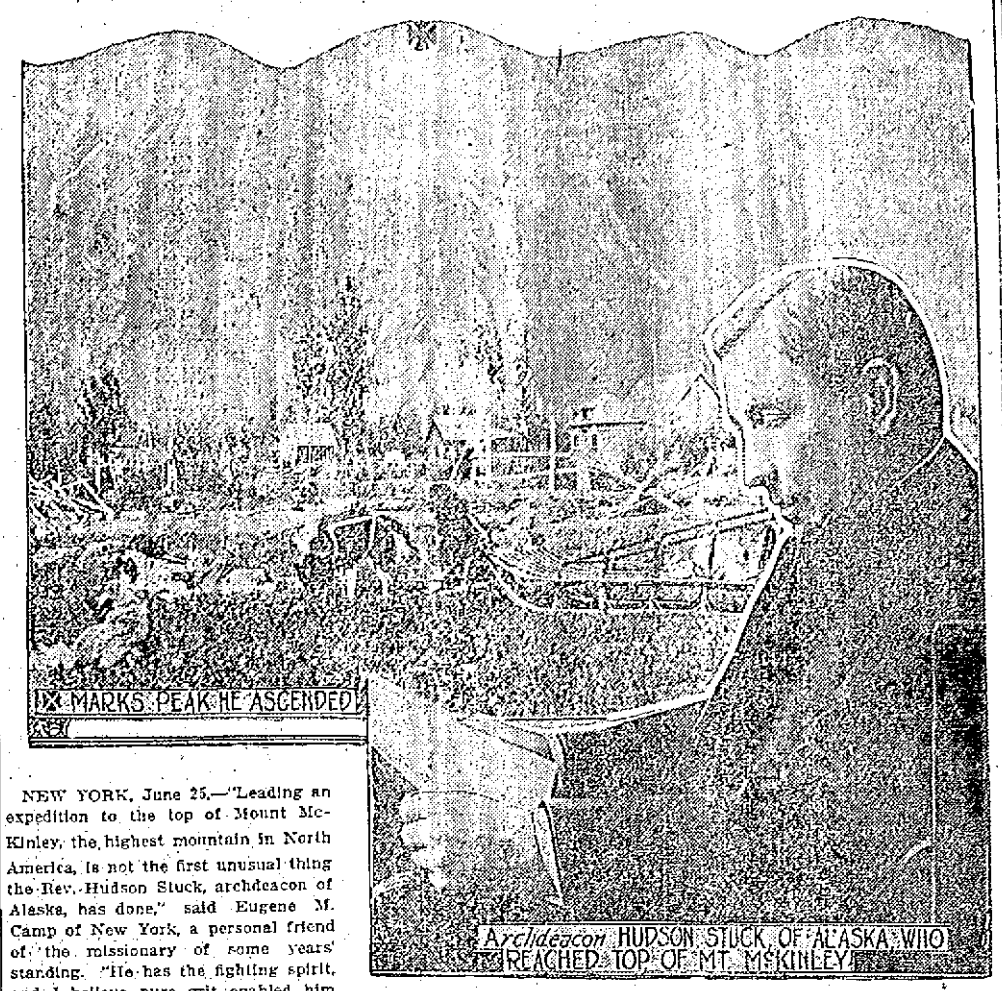
PURE GRIT ENABLED ARCHDEACON STUCK TO REACH TOP OF NORTH AMERICAN CONTINENT



NEW YORK, June 25.—"Leading an expedition to the top of Mount McKinley, the highest mountain in North America, is not the first unusual thing the Rev. Hudson Stuck, archdeacon of Alaska, has done," said Eugene M. Camp of New York, a personal friend of the missionary of some years' standing. "He has the fighting spirit, and I believe pure grit enabled him to win. Mr. Stuck, an Englishman by birth, came to America as a young fellow and went to the University of the South. He became an Episcopal clergyman in 1892, serving under Bishop Johnston in western Texas. Two years were enough for him to be discovered in that distant field, and in 1894 he became dean of St. Matthew's cathedral at Dallas under Bishop Garrett. After a service three of ten years he went in 1904 to Alaska, where he has been since. Dallas sent him in 1901 to San Francisco, a deputy to the Episcopal general convention. Young and unknown, he won his spurs in that eventful convention. The late Rev. Dr. William R. Huntington of New York, one of the most brilliant debaters any church in America has ever produced, then, at his height, led a five day debate. Young Stuck successfully met him and over and over again carried the whole convention with him against the famous New York debater. People began to ask who the Texan might be. They found out before the convention was over. Even Dr. Huntington paid him the highest compliment as a fighter in the forum. Three years later Mr. Stuck astonished his friends by giving up his position at Dallas and going to Alaska. The bishop of Alaska, the Right Rev. Dr. Peter T. Rowe, is one of the best known bishops in the Episcopal church, brought into prominence at first by the late J. Pierpont Morgan of New York, who financially helped him. Becoming his archdeacon, Mr. Stuck did the difficult thing of remaining perfectly loyal to Bishop Rowe, not taking a single laurel from him, and yet himself attaining a worldwide fame as a daring missionary. From distant Alaska, without once leaving it, but for eight years sticking to his job, he wrote descriptive articles about the Episcopal church in Alaska. These were published in the missionary magazine of his church. The outcome is that Archdeacon Stuck is one of the best known leaders. When he comes to New York in October next, to attend the general convention, the same body he attended in San Francisco in 1901, hardly another man will be more sought after as a speaker. And he did it all while himself remaining in Alaska snows and wilds. Nobody wonders he got to the top of Mount McKinley—having made up his mind to start." The message said that he reached the summit of the mountain on June 7. He set out three months ago for the trip. The dispatch says that the scaling party was able to discern a flagpole that the Thomas Lloyd expedition in 1910 put up on one of the lower peaks. The explorer believes that the accuracy of his instruments, coupled with the splendid weather conditions prevailing, will give an unusually correct calculation as to the exact height of the mountain when his observations have been figured out. Archdeacon Stuck and his companions—H. P. Karstens, R. G. Tatum and Walter Harper—knelt in prayer and recited the thanksgiving service of the church and later put up a six foot cross on the summit. The archdeacon and his three followers left Fairbanks the middle of March. Their equipment was supplied from the outfit of Professor Parker, which was used last year. Supplies had been taken to the foot of the mountain last fall.

WASHINGTON CLUB PICNIC

Big Turnout of Members at Martin Luther Camp

The members of the Washington club of this city held their annual outing this afternoon at the Martin Luther grounds in Tyngsboro and the event was attended by a majority of the members. The party started at noon from the headquarters of the club in Prescott street, making the journey to the camp grounds in automobiles owned by members. They made quite a procession as they left the square en route for the scene of the day's festivities.

Arriving at the grounds, a luncheon was served which was heartily enjoyed by all and then the fun started. There was an excellent program of sports prepared. The Married Men met the Single Men in a baseball game in which no little interest was aroused and each side had a good host of supporters. Mr. J. J. Sullivan had offered prizes of white flannel pants to the members of the winning team and had one pair on exhibition in his tailor headquarters in The Sun building this morning. Mr. Sullivan captained the Married Men while the bachelors were led by Thomas F. Kelly.

The other events included 100 yards dash, fat men's race, games of quoits and throwing a baseball, and there were many entries in all. There were suitable prizes for the winners in all of the contests, these prizes having been donated by the members of the executive committee of the club.

Dinner was to be served at half-past four and a bounteous repast had been prepared for the occasion. Everybody was in the best of spirits and ready for a general good time and every variety of amusement which the members could devise was resorted to.

The committee in charge of the outing consisted of: Dr. William M. Collins, chairman, William A. Hogan, Charles L. Marren, William C. Purcell, Thomas F. Kelly, Joseph A. Legare, James J. Kerwin, J. C. Manseau, and John J. Sullivan. They received the hearty commendation of the members for the success of the event and for the enjoyment furnished all.

"RANCH 101" IN WRECK

Two Hundred Performers Got Scare When Four Coaches Were Derailed —Two Injured

BOSTON, June 25.—Two hundred performers of "Ranch 101" show got a scare yesterday, when four coaches of the show train were derailed at East Somerville. Two of the employes were injured slightly—George H. Hutchinson and Thomas Atkinson. The former received some contusions, while the latter sustained a sprained knee. Both were treated at the Massachusetts General hospital.

The show was on its way from the Back Bay to Lynn. The special train was sent over the Boston & Albany tracks in two sections of 20 cars. The first section, carrying the horses and other animals, arrived at Lynn all right. The second section carried the wagons, tents and culinary equipment. As the train was taking the crossover at the eastern division three of the cars toppled over.

To Form Holy Cross Club

The final arrangements for forming a Holy Cross Club in this city and in the Merrimack valley will be discussed and action taken at a general meeting of graduates and undergraduates which will be held in Page's banquet hall beginning at 7 o'clock this evening. All of the alumni and present students in this vicinity have been notified and are requested to be present. A luncheon will be served during the evening.

Rev. Joseph N. Dinand, S. J., president of Holy Cross college is expected to be present and greet the body and lend his aid to forming a strong and permanent organization. There will also, it is said, be present prominent Holy Cross men from Boston and vicinity and from other out-of-town places who are deeply interested in the project which has proven so successful in other cities.

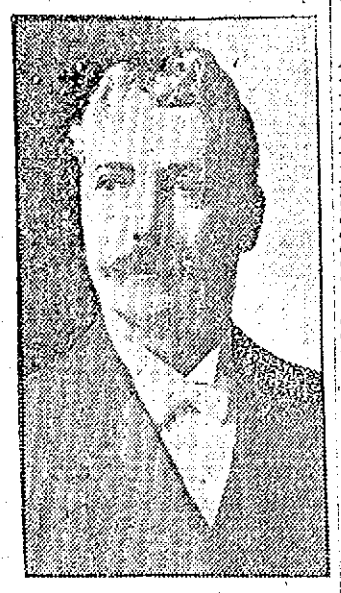
AGENT CONNELL RESIGNS POSITION

At T. & S. Mills—He Will Take Much Needed Rest



AGENT JOHN J. CONNELL,
Of Tremont & Suffolk Mills

John J. Connell, agent of the Tremont & Suffolk mills for more than eleven years, has resigned, his resignation to take effect August 1.

This does not, in any way, represent hurried action on the part of Mr. Connell, as he has had it under contemplation for about two years. About a year ago Mr. Connell told the writer he would resign within a year, stating then that the burden was getting too heavy for him and that he believed himself entitled to a good long rest.

Mr. Connell has the reputation of being one of the most progressive and successful mill agents in the country, a fact that has been borne out by his work as agent of the Tremont & Suffolk mills, having paid off a debt of approximately $3,000,000 and establishing in its stead a surplus of $2,300,000.

Mr. Connell became agent of the Tremont & Suffolk mills, April 28, 1902, and he is now rounding out his 43rd year in the cotton mills. After August first, he will move to his old home in New Berlin, N. Y., where he will enjoy a well earned rest. His successor has not yet been appointed.

Began Mill Career in 1870

Mr. Connell began his mill career in 1870 in the small mills of central New York. At the age of 17 he was overseer of spinning in a small cloth mill and at the age of 21 he went to Utica, N. Y., where he was employed in New York mills for several years.

He came to New England in 1885 and without influence, or assistance of any kind, secured a position in Woonsocket, R. I.

He remained in Woonsocket only a few months when he went to the mills of the Willimantic Linen company, Willimantic, Conn., now the American Thread Co. From Willimantic he went to the City Mfg. Co., in New Bedford, the company, at that time, having completed its first new mill.

From the City Mfg. Co. he went to the Wansutta mills, also of New Bedford, where he worked in several positions and remained until he was offered the position of manager of the Cohannet mills in Taunton. He remained there eleven years and resigned when that company was absorbed by the New England Cotton Yarn company.

After leaving Taunton, Mr. Connell spent one winter in the South, where he reorganized one mill and made general observations of what Southern competition meant to the New England manufacturers.

Elected Agent of T. & S.

On April 15, 1902, he received notice that he had been elected agent of the Tremont & Suffolk mills in this city, and was directed to report for duty as soon as possible. He returned to Taunton, moved his household goods to Lowell.

Agent's Own Statement

Speaking of his resignation to The Sun reporter, Mr. Connell said: "I have been contemplating this change for a year or more and for a number of years I have been building a home for my wife and myself in New Berlin, N. Y., in the vicinity of where I was born, and where my wife was born. While I regret very much to part with the company and the pleasant associations which I have formed in this city, I feel that in justice to myself I should take a rest, or at least lighten the burden, for should I continue under my present load much longer I would not be able to enjoy a rest anywhere.

"The duties of a mill agent, if he performs them as they should be performed, are numerous and exacting and the life of the mill agent is becoming more strenuous every year. The business of the Tremont & Suffolk mills is in a fine healthy condition at the present time and it cannot be said that I am getting out in a storm. All the goods the mill can furnish have been sold up to October and perhaps into November and unless the tariff kick should be too severe the Tremont & Suffolk will continue to prosper."

PRICES UNCHANGED

LITTLE ANIMATION IN OPENING SALES

Some Railroad Issues Showed Decline—Prices Rose After Opening—Bonds Irregular—Closed Heavy

NEW YORK, June 25.—Little animation showed itself in the opening sales on the stock exchange today. Prices in most of the leading issues remained at the level of yesterday's close though in some of the railroads a tendency was shown towards a decline. This was led by Chesapeake & Ohio, which dropped a point on the opening sales, and which continued to sag as the trading progressed.

Under the lead of Union Pacific prices rose moderately after trading had got well under way. The demand for U. P. was based on the idea that the government would approve the Harriman dissolution, including the trusteeship including the $90,000,000 of Southern Pacific stock nor turned over to the Pennsylvania. The rise was small, however, and prices soon fell back close to the opening figures, remaining almost stationary at the lower level during the remainder of the forenoon session. Pronounced weakness of Chesapeake & Ohio which dropped 2½ to 53, the year's lowest, gave rise to rumors concerning the probable dividend policy of the company. Reassuring news from abroad regarding progress of the London settlement failed to have a stimulating effect. Bonds were irregular.

Stocks of the western grain carrying roads showed a more general disposition to advance in the latter part of the day in response to news of heavy rainfalls in sections in which the crops have been threatened by lack of moisture. General speculation remained dormant with interest centered in Union Pacific Bulls talked confidently, pointing to the scarcity of stocks on the recent rise, but were reluctant to increase their commitments pending receipt of news from Washington regarding the result of today's conference there over the Harriman dissolution.

The market closed heavy. The attorney general's announcement at Washington that a satisfactory plan for dissolution of the Harriman property apparently had been agreed upon failed to stimulate the list, which weakened toward the close.

CEMETERY RECEIPTS

Lot Owners Who Do Not Pay Need Not Expect Their Lots Will Be Attended To

Speaking of the cemetery question this afternoon, Commissioner Cummings said that the total receipts from the School Street cemetery are $31. Twenty dollars of this amount is the interest on the $500 perpetual care fund and the balance of $11 was paid by owners for the care of their lots. Said Mr. Cummings: "It is the intention of the department to take care of the cemeteries in general and of those lots for the care of which the owners pay. But the lot owners who neglect to pay for the care of their lots, and who have neglected to do so in the past need expect no attention whatever from the department. If the people who have lots in the Westlawn and Edson cemeteries are obliged to pay for the attention given by the caretakers to the graves of their relatives, it is only reasonable that those owning lots in the School street burial ground who can afford it should be expected to do likewise and the department intends to enforce this rule."

TO TRY WHITE SLAVERS AT ONCE

Pres. Wilson Accepts McNab's Resignation—Exonerates McReynolds

WASHINGTON, June 25.—President Wilson last night telegraphed United States District Attorney John L. McNab of San Francisco, Cal., acceptance of the latter's resignation, the form of which the president characterized as "an inexcusable intimation of injustice and wrongdoing" on the part of Attorney-General McReynolds.

In a letter to the attorney-general the president exonerated him from blame and adopted Mr. McReynolds' suggestion that the Caminetti-Diggs and the Western Fuel company cases be prosecuted immediately by special counsel for the government.

White House officials announced that the president would confer today with the attorney-general about the appointment of special prosecutors, and that the president had in mind Francis J. Heney, progressive republican, who prosecuted the famous San Francisco graft trials; Matt J. Sullivan, democrat, who assisted Mr. Heney in the Ruef trial, and Thomas Hayden, democrat, a former assistant city attorney in San Francisco.

It was said that at least two of these three men, and possibly all, would be selected to take charge, not only of the Caminetti-Diggs white slave cases, but the Western Fuel company indictments.

Developments were rapid during the day in the situation which was precipitated by the telegrams of Mr. McNabb on Saturday to the president and attorney-general, accusing the latter of yielding to "rich and powerful influences" in ordering a postponement of these cases, the father of one of the defendants being Anthony Caminetti, commissioner-general of immigration.

MURDER WITNESS CUTS THROAT

Wm. C. Adams, State's Witness in Trial of J.H. Wrenn, Attempted Suicide Today

KEENE, N. H., June 25.—William C. Adams, one of the state's principal witnesses at the trial of John H. Wrenn, charged with the murder of J. Stewart Hamilton, a railroad construction foreman, attempted suicide by cutting his throat at his home a few hours before the taking of testimony was begun today. Adams lives with his sister at Hinsdale and it was at their home that Hamilton boarded. Adams and Hamilton were intimate friends and it is believed that the tragic death of the other preyed on Adams' mind. He may recover.

County Solicitor Cain made the opening statement of the government's case. He said it would be shown that on Feb. 5 Hamilton had considerable money and that he received a call from Wrenn. Later Hamilton went in the direction taken by Wrenn when he left Hamilton's office. The next morning the foreman's body was discovered and his money was missing. It would be shown, the prosecutor said, that Wrenn about his time paid several debts, gave some money to his family and then left for Halifax, N. S.

EXPLOSION WAS AN ACCIDENT

Judge Rules That B. B. Grover & Co. Are Not Responsible for Deaths of 60 People

PLYMOUTH, June 25.—The explosion and fire which destroyed the shoe factory of R. B. Grover & Co. at Brockton and caused the loss of more than 60 lives on March 20, 1905, were not due either to negligence on the part of the corporation or to the incompetence of the engineer, according to the finding announced today by Judge Chamberlain, who was appointed auditor to hear the testimony in 14 damage suits against the company. The Grover factory disaster was one of the worst in the history of New England. Soon after the opening hour the boiler exploded with such force as to cause the collapse of the wooden factory building. Fire broke out in the ruins.

Judge Chamberlain declares that the explosion was an accident for which the corporation was in no way liable.

TO PARDON JOHN WAINWRIGHT

Worcester Man is Serving Life Sentence for the Murder of His Daughter

BOSTON, June 25.—A pardon for John Wainwright of Worcester, who is serving a life sentence for the murder of his daughter, Mrs. Annie Lindley, at Worcester in 1906, was recommended today by the pardon committee of the executive council. Final action, however, was postponed for a week in order to obtain a statement from District Attorney Taft.

It was shown to the pardon committee that Wainwright was incensed against his daughter because of her immoral life. He fired several shots from a revolver but claimed he only meant to frighten her. One of the bullets killed the girl and another wounded her mother.

HONOR PRES. POINCARE

Guest Today of Lord Mayor of London

LONDON, June 25.—President Poincare of France was the guest at luncheon today of the lord mayor and corporation of the city of London and the "square mile" composing the city proper was in gala array for the occasion, while the ancient guildhall was a blaze of color.

The French president's progress through streets lined with troops from York house placed at his disposal by King George to the city was a popular triumph. It was marked by enthusiastic welcoming cheers from thousands of sightseers who took the occasion in this way to express their approval of the friendly agreement between England and France.

The scene during the luncheon was brilliant. The hall was crowded with members of the royal family, cabinet ministers, naval and military officers and high state and civic dignitaries, their uniforms glittering with decorations.

WITH BURNS DETECTIVE AGENCY

P. J. McCrann, Formerly of This City, Made Clever Arrest in Kansas City, Mo.

The following item of interest to the many friends of P. J. McCrann, formerly of this city, appeared recently in an issue of the "Daily Chronicle" of Kansas City.

Mr. McCrann is well known in Lowell. He came here last year at which time he was the guest of his sister, Miss Katherine McCrann, now Mrs. Arthur Lewis.

The item is as follows: After a chase lasting six days, P. J. McCrann, representative of the Burns detective agency, arrested T. J. Dabakey at the home of relatives, at 21st and Third avenue south. The man will be arraigned in Kansas City, Mo., where he will stand trial on a charge of swindling the Western Exchange bank of that city. The man put up quite a fight when several members of the police force assisted Mr. McCrann in overcoming him.

Mr. McCrann when interviewed stated that the agency, in whose interests he is working, received word that the prisoner had secured $108.55 by fraud, this consisting, so it is alleged, of the overdrawing from the bank of $108.55, a check being made out to a person who before the overdraft had always cashed checks for Dabakey and found them to be good.

The Burns man started after his man on the 13th of June. He followed him to Springfield, Ill., and a number of other places. Finally he was trailed to Kansas City and arrested.

The police are to be complimented upon their work, according to the story told by the detective. They worked with him until they were sure of the man and then went out and helped him to make the arrest. Dabakey showed fight but he was overpowered within a short time.

SMALLPOX CASES

Continued

The doctors allowed that whatever harm could be done in the way of exposure had already been accomplished. The other two victims are Girard Morrisette, 3 1-2 months, and Rudolph Morrisette, 18 months. Their home is at 195 Ludlam street and despite the fact that all these cases were well advanced no doctor had been summoned.

Up to the noon hour the total number of cases reported at the office of the board of health was 28.

The Board's Report

At the special meeting of the board today, the chairman read the following report:

"We now have actually 25 cases of smallpox, by far the great majority of a very mild nature, as evidenced by the slight eruption and their apparent healthful activity. The disease, so far, is not that which the name smallpox would naturally picture in the mind of the average person. The eruption in most cases is discrete and light and even in the more severe cases we believe there will be little, if any, disfigurement. The board of health is doing all in its power to check the disease which through its mildness and through, in many cases, lack of information to the health authorities, has managed to propogate itself somewhat through contact and association.

"Vaccination has now been well done through the infected districts. Also whatever ramification through contact and association which has taken place has been closely followed up with thorough process of vaccination.

"Free vaccination is being done at city hall, between the hours of 4 and 5 and 7 to 9 p. m., every day. People throughout the city who are not protected by vaccination should not wait for the house-to-house visit of the vaccinating physicians, but should provide themselves with the means of protection by calling on their family physician, or calling here at city hall, where they will be treated gratis with vaccination.

"So far no very sore arms have been reported and with the modern means of vaccination at hand there should be no hesitation. In reference to a communication in this morning's paper signed 'Reader,' and which criticises the board of health for allowing the lawn fete at the French-American orphanage on Sunday, we would say that the board of health had no knowledge whatever of smallpox in the French-American orphanage until Sunday night and within a short time after being notified of that possibility, were there and took necessary precautions. The cases found there were in the early stages. These cases were not under suspicion so far as the health authorities were concerned. The history of the case shows that a child was not feeling well on Friday and the physicians called in evidently did not think there was any danger of smallpox. On Sunday night with the appearance of the eruption, Rev. Fr. Watelle, telephoned to Dr. Livingston for his diagnosis, hence our presence there at once and quarantine effected.

"Concerning the rumors that people were being admitted to the orphanage yesterday, I wish to read you an advertisement, which appeared in the French paper on Monday. It is as follows:

Smallpox at Orphanage

"'Concerning the appearance of smallpox at the orphanage I feel unable to state how it penetrated there. Physicians have found the place in the best possible sanitary condition. The board of health was notified at once. The children were at once transferred from the orphanage. All the other children were at once vaccinated by three physicians. Doctors said the disease would soon disappear. No child has been transported to the contagious hospital. All visits to the orphanage are forbidden, and this extends to all surrounding property of the orphanage. I urge all parishioners to take the utmost care in preventing this disease. It is much better to notify the board of health of the disease than to attempt to conceal it. It would be unfair to draw conclusions against us in this case. However, the utmost rigor must be maintained against the disease.

(Signed),

"'Rev. Henri Watelle, O. M. I.'"

The following communication from Dr. Simpson of the state board of health, to the local board is self explanatory:

To the Board of Health,
Lowell, Mass.
Gentlemen:

On inspecting the isolation quarters at the French American orphanage on Pawtucket street with your chairman I found the building well situated, setting back from the street and good lawns and alleyways separating it from the nearest dwelling house and several hundred feet from the main building of the orphanage. There seems to be ample room for quite a number of cases. The sister in charge I found was not, and never had been vaccinated. This should be attended to at once. No provisions were there for boiling clothes. This also should be provided for. The clothes yard used for drying the clothes from the general laundry of the orphanage was within a few feet from the ell of the house. It would seem well to have some protection to keep the convalescing smallpox cases from getting too close to this, or perhaps it would be better to have it temporarily placed in some other part of the grounds. I see no objection to bringing food from the main kitchen to supply the wants of these patients, but it must be brought in bulk, carefully transferred to the dishes for the hospital and no dishes of any kind taken back, other than the tray or large dishes on which it is brought. I would advise soaking the soiled clothes for some hours in a one to sixty solution of carbolic acid and rinsing them out and boiling them for twenty minutes or half an hour before they could be handled by any one else. I shall be pleased to make further investigation when they get under way.

Yours very truly,
C. E. Simpson.

THE JOY RIDERS

The Highway Safety league of Boston apparently believes that the pernicious activity of the daring joy rider has gone too far in this section of the country to be tolerated any further, and at the beginning of this week they sent appeals out through the state for a fund of $10,000 with which to fight this growing evil. The league intends to establish branches in every city and town in the state so that the movement will not be sectional but of such a nature that the joy rider will find himself in uncomfortable quarters in whatever part of the state he may make his unwelcome visits.

Automobile accidents are alarmingly on the increase in this state and it is safe to say that most of them are due either to reckless driving or the ignorance of the joy rider. There is a well developed epidemic of speed mania, to satisfy which cars are stolen weekly and chauffeurs and others take automobiles without the permission of their owners. Newspaper illustrations not infrequently give cuts of shattered and twisted cars which have been abandoned after accidents, and the fact that those who rode in them disappeared without leaving any clue to their identity shows that they had either used the car without permission or met with accident as the result of their own most reprehensible folly. As an aftermath of a joy ride accident on Sunday, a lady residing in the Back Bay has sworn out a warrant for the arrest of her chauffeur who took the car without her permission to make a wild dash to Nahant with a party of friends. In speaking of her action this lady said: "I have taken out the warrant for the purpose of making an example of him as a joy rider, more than from any feeling that I have because he wrecked my new car."

There will be joy riders and joy riding so long as the courts deal as lightly with the offence as they now do. Many of the worst offenders are young men whose superabundance of wealth is not balanced by a superabundance of brains. These regard no law but the law of their own sweet will or pleasure. They rush over the roads in a reckless abandon that endangers their own useless lives and the lives of others. If perchance they are arrested for over speeding, or possibly because of some accident, they are often "punished" by being compelled to pay a fine. Whether the fine be $10.00 or $100.00 it has little effect. It merely gives a flavor of adventure to a new search after sensations and furnishes an anecdote to be told between the cocktails. If the joy rider were punished by being deprived of his license to drive, we might hope for some improvement. It is a parody on justice to wait until someone is killed before this is done.

The Boston Highway Safety league considers this matter of sufficient importance to warrant the taking of automobile control away from the highway commission, and the creation of special courts which would deal only with infractions of all regulations regarding the speed and control of automobiles. This course seems to be more extreme than is strictly necessary as there are now laws sufficient to check the joy rider, and sufficient authority to enforce them. A broader co-operation between the state highway commission, automobile leagues, and municipal councils would bring about the desired results, and the need for this co-operation was never so urgent as at the present time when automobile accidents are the rule rather than the exception.

SAFE AND SANE FOURTH

It is not too soon to make preparations for a safe and sane celebration of the 4th of July such as we enjoyed last year. Such a celebration is the result of a general public discussion, and the sooner all who desire a dignified expression of patriotism, devoid of the features that have too often made the day a day of tragedy in years past, agitate and discuss the subject, the better it will be for the children who are not allowed to maim themselves, the parents who are awake to the seriousness of the matter at last, and the citizens in general. Last year, there was not a single accident due to an explosion at a hospital which had ever thirty in 1911. If this is not a strong argument in favor of a safe and sane Fourth, it is difficult to find one that will satisfy those who believe that we do not prove ourselves good Americans unless we make life miserable for all who are in our immediate vicinity on the national holiday. If the toll of accidents all over the country were taken on July 5th in years past, it would undoubtedly be found that the 4th of July has sent as many to the hospitals as many of the battles of the wars which won for us the freedom we celebrate on that day.

We have not yet reached that ideal stage which dissociates patriotism from noise, so that it is too much to expect a celebration without the booming of cannon and the detonation of firecrackers. But, how many of those who indulge in this barbaric fun know what it all means? It is for them only a chance to work off surplus energy. Noise, however, we still will have; it will please those who make it and subject others only to a passing inconvenience so long as the firecrackers are of the harmless variety. Parents should be particularly careful that they do not let their children use the types of giant cracker which have done so much damage in years past. The attitude of the country in this regard was well shown at the public indifference that followed a recent complaint of the American manufacturers of firecrackers regarding the reduced tariff rates on their commodities.

We can have a safe and sane 4th without discarding any of the good features of other years. Undoubtedly we will still have the jubilant night before, the marvellous midway on the common with its wild men and women, its merry-go-rounds, its African dodgers, its pink lemonade and frankfurts. The children will delight in rainbow-hued toy balloons and canes. There will be band concerts on the North and South commons. There will be patriotic orations and special municipal observances. There will be everything except maimed bodies, racing ambulances, and darkened homes. By all means let us have a safe and sane 4th.

NOT A SLIGHT MATTER

It is by no means a slight matter that the attorney-general of the United States has been accused by a subordinate of interfering with the course of justice at the solicitation of an officer of the government whose son was under suspicion. Still it can scarcely be conceived that the charge is true, although the unfortunate chain of circumstances gives it an awkward complexion. Probably no one will welcome the investigation which the president seems disposed to make, more than those most directly interested. This investigation should not be delayed a moment longer than is necessary, for the sake of the honor of all concerned.

In the meantime Mr. Caminetti, commissioner-general of immigration, is being accused of using "both his political and official influence to prevent his son from being brought to a speedy trial." It is possible that in the heat of the moment this charge is exaggerated. It is but natural that he should do all in his power to defend his son, but the nature of the charge against him, and the high public position of the father give insignificant actions an importance which they may not really possess. This is another instance of the need for the greatest caution on the part of those whose connection with the government throws some of their private actions out of all proportions in the eyes of the public.

It is unfortunate for all concerned that the immediate trial was postponed, not because there was not sufficient grounds, but because the postponement gave rise to such public suspicion. The people have grown abnormally suspicious of corruption in government circles, and the demands of the day are more and more for action which shall be open to the public in all its phases. When anything occurs which has a private look, it is considered suspicious and sinister, and the people fear a repetition of some of the dishonest manipulations of other days. The mountain in this case may dwindle into a mole hill when all the facts are fully known.

NO TIME FOR LENIENCY

There is one very regretiable aspect to the local smallpox situation, and that is the growing conviction that many cases were hidden by the relatives of those afflicted, with the result that the disease has spread much farther than it would have were each case reported as soon as suspected. Possibly the cases brought to light up to the past week or so might be excused on the ground of ignorance of the true nature of the disease, but it is inconceivable that after the wide advertisement of the contagion and its resultant public discussion, responsible people could take chances when some members of the household showed the rash that is one of the first symptoms of the disease. When it was known that many of these mingled with former cases, the margin of possible excuse becomes slight indeed.

Whatever view was taken by the health authorities up to the present, there is no excuse for those who strive to hide a smallpox patient from now on. It is well indeed that the terrible disease is here in a slight form, for the carelessness of certain parties, added to our imperfect facilities, rendered us liable to an epidemic which would have made the name of Lowell a by-word in the state. If from now on there is any tendency to hide smallpox cases, it ought to be punished to the full extent of the law. The health and reputation of the entire city are far too important to be weighed against the fine feelings of the few. Then, even for the sake of the patient and the afflicted family it is better that the case be immediately reported. The policy which would hide the diseases is as short-sighted as it is wrong in principle. Surely no doctor has had anything to do with the concealment of cases that has given us the present menace of an epidemic.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Honorary Degrees

Lynn News: In a way, these degrees serve a very useful purpose. We have no way in this country of suitably recognizing talent and achievement. Some men's work is so conspicuous that they win popular fame. But these are few in number. Other men make money. But this does not include some of our most useful citizens, who in quiet ways render conspicuous service in some particular line of effort. The honorary degree, when properly bestowed singles out these men and gives them a part of the recognition which their attainments merit. And inasmuch as we have no other way in this country of giving such recognition, the colleges perform a very useful service.

His Reserve

New Bedford Standard: John Lorance writes that in one respect the new chief magistrate is very unlike William H. Taft and Theodore Roosevelt: "If President Wilson has any newspaper intimate," writes Lorance, "the Washington correspondents do not know of him. Recently a group of the more notable and powerful ones canvassed the situation and they came to the conclusion that none existed. They compared their own experience and found that only two of them had personally seen the president and that for only a short time, and that the interview has not been productively satisfactory. It was declared that it was difficult to break through the reserve that surrounds President Wilson's demeanor."

A Public Statement

Fall River Globe: While it is highly probable that Senator Lodge was unaware of the fact that when he turned his frank over to the sugar [illegible] to use in the dissemination of their literature they intended to abuse the privilege by sending matter through the mails that was not entitled to be carried free because it had been surreptitiously doctored. Nevertheless, it would seem to be his duty to make a public statement to that effect and to repudiate their trickery. Otherwise people will be warranted in assuming that he was a party to the irregular proceeding.

Parades

Haverhill Gazette: The interest felt in the recent parade of woman suffragists at New York, suggests what a factor processions are in American life. From the elephants, tigers and calliope in the circus parade, to the political torchlight, the procession is the typical American public festival. Considering that the people have been parading ever since they were big enough to march with a lunch basket in line for the Sunday school picnic it is perhaps singular that these processions are not more effective. The one idea seems to be bigness; the more tired the spectator gets, the more successful the show. A parade is really fine art, where groups are arranged with an eye for harmonies and variety of color.

Sing Sing

Nassau Telegraph: Incontrovertible details show that the cells are unfit for the housing of animals, much less human beings. In many of them the sunlight never penetrates and there are many others where it enters only for a brief moment of th day. The cell house is only a few feet above tide-water and in the ground tiers the hand will be wet by simple drawing it over the walls. The cell provides less than half the cubic airspace required by law for the inmates of a common lodging house and this is atrociously inadequate for the housing of the condemned men. Moreover within the last two years the crowding in the prison has pressed far over the calculated capacity for twelve hundred convicts.

Currency Bills

Lawrence Telegram: Whether Wilson has found the cure for our currency ills or not remains to be seen. But this much he may be sure of the country as a whole will welcome any honest and intelligent attempt on the part of the party in power to improve our currency laws. They are admittedly cumbersome, ineffective in times of panic and in the opinion of many accelerators of a panic when it is on a under way, whereas they should be retarders of it.

Incurable

Manchester Mirror: Many diseases which long seemed incurable are now successfully treated. For countless centuries the plague, the smallpox, rabies, tuberculosis and swift, subtle diphtheria carried with them the sentence of death, but men sought patiently and persistently for effective ways to fight these dreadful foes of humanity, even sacrificing their lives in unselfish zeal; and as a result we have vaccination, inoculation and antitoxin, and millions once deemed incurable are saved.

PLEADS FOR BETTER NAVY

Adm. Dewey Wants More Ships and Men

WASHINGTON, June 25.—An adequate American navy means a fleet second only to that of Great Britain, and "inadequacy is an invitation to war," in the opinion of Admiral Dewey, ranking naval officer of the United States.

"I believe it is the duty of each generation to pay its own insurance and not to thrust its burdens on the generations that come after; and the insurance for peace is a navy strong enough to compel it," says the admiral in an article written for the program for Navy Day at Newport, R. I., July 2, and made public yesterday.

Annual Outing Held This Year Was Different From Those That Have Preceded It

As is the custom with this unique organization of giving its members an outing in the early summer, this year's affair consisted of an automobile trip to Bass Point, Nahant, each car taking its choice of route. When the last machine reached the spot and all had prepared for dinner the party marched into one of the private rooms of the Relay House, where they remained around the festive board for a couple of hours, and even then one man claimed his belt was yet loose. After viewing the various attractions the autos headed for home, which was reached about 11.30, all agreeing that the trip had been greatly enjoyed.

CLOSING EXERCISES HELD

At Immaculate Conception School

THE 33D ANNUAL ENTERTAINMENT OF THIS SCHOOL

Very Creditable Showing Made by the Scholars—Reflecting Credit on the Devoted Teachers

The Immaculate Conception school hall was packed to its capacity last night to witness the 33rd commencement exercises of the school. The program was a lengthy one and of very exceptional merit, as the older and younger pupils seemed to vie with each other in doing justice to the thoroughness of their training. The audience was unusually appreciative, and there was continual applause from the beginning of the exercises until their conclusion.

The Immaculate Conception school has been very successful in reaching a high educational standard. In recent years pupils who have been trained there have afterwards won high honors in the high school. The reason for this is not hard to find if we regard the excellence of last night's program as being indicative of the untiring energy with which the good sisters attend to their important duties in educating the children of the parish in both religious and secular subjects.

The program complete was as follows:

Joe Donahue again batted out a victory for Dartmouth with his timely double against Amherst. Joe also landed on the ball for a triple which brought home a run. The game was the feature of the Dartmouth commencement day exercises and the Lowell boy wound up his college career in a blaze of glory.

This same boxer is only a mere youth. He has not been in the ring two years yet, has fought over fifty battles, has never received an unfavorable decision or been knocked out, and withal is not yet 20 years of age. Eddie Mack makes no bones about saying that Egan, providing he takes care of himself, will be the lightweight champion within two years. Step this way, Mr. Kennedy!

"Mahoney Day" at Lawrence yesterday was celebrated with quite a great deal of pomp in the down river city. Mayor Barry of Cambridge, Mahoney's home town, was present with a delegation of fans from that city and the Lawrence third baseman received several presentations. Mahoney came through and won the game for his club when he sprinted home from second on White's short single.

Fall River lost the first game of a double-header to New Bedford yesterday by being shut out, 9 to 0. Now listen to this—Fall River got 8 hits, 1 of them a double, five bases on balls, sent a man to first on a dead ball and yet could not score a run. This is certainly a remarkable performance. Fourteen men to reach first base and not a man cross the plate. Clohecy's warriors are not what might be called heady base runners to say the least.

It looks on paper as though the American tennis team would clean up for the other racket swingers in the international struggle now going on in England for the Dwight F. Davis trophy. McLoughlin, Johnson, Williams, and Biddle are a quartet which will, barring accidents, bring home the trophy to America.

Detroit sadly missed Cobb's services yesterday in their double-header with Cleveland. Hich, Tyrus' understudy, is a good ball player, but is not in the same class as the Georgia Peach, of course. Cobb is not seriously injured and may be in the lineup today.

AMATEUR BASEBALL

The Rambler A. C. of upper Broadway would like to challenge any 14 or 15 year old team in the city. Send all challenges to Bill Doyle, 23 Phillips street. "Duke" Rutledge, who holds down the initial corner says: "If we can't beat any 14 or 15 year old team in the city I'll bite my name in my shirt." We have beaten such teams as St. Columba's, St. Patrick's Junior Holy Name and the Burnsides.

LOWELL ON LONG END

Brockton Was Outhit and Beaten for 2nd Time

Lowell batted Swormstedt hard yesterday in the third and sixth innings and batted out a 7 to 4 win over Brockton. Zelser pitched good ball up to the seventh but in this period began to show signs of weakness and was replaced by Adams. The latter held Brockton runless for the last three innings.

Brockton put one run across in the first on a pass, a sacrifice and a hit. Lowell came into her own in the third and scored two runs. Thereafter the local team was never headed. In the fifth another run was chalked up for Lowell on two hits and a sacrifice and in the sixth the Lowell team batted around with three runs coming home. Lowell's last run was made in the ninth when two hits and a sacrifice sent Rube DeGroff across the platter with the last run of the game.

Lowell got fourteen hits, batting Swormstedt to all corners of the lot in his two bad innings. DeGroff and Daly hit safely three times, each connecting with a timely double. Flaherty and Maloney did Brockton's heavy stick work. Brockton played a very loose game in the field while Lowell's two misplays were not costly. Aubrey stole the base which was pilfered in the game. The score:

Theatre Voyons

There is no form of sport as exciting as a bullfight and the form of contest as practiced in France is the very limit of thrills. Today the Theatre Voyons shows motion pictures of one taken in Les Landes in which a dozen or more unarmed men contest with a bull in the ring. "Law and Outlaw," a two-reel Selig feature, is some thriller. In fact, in more than a dozen places there are enough thrills for a whole reel of ordinary pictures.

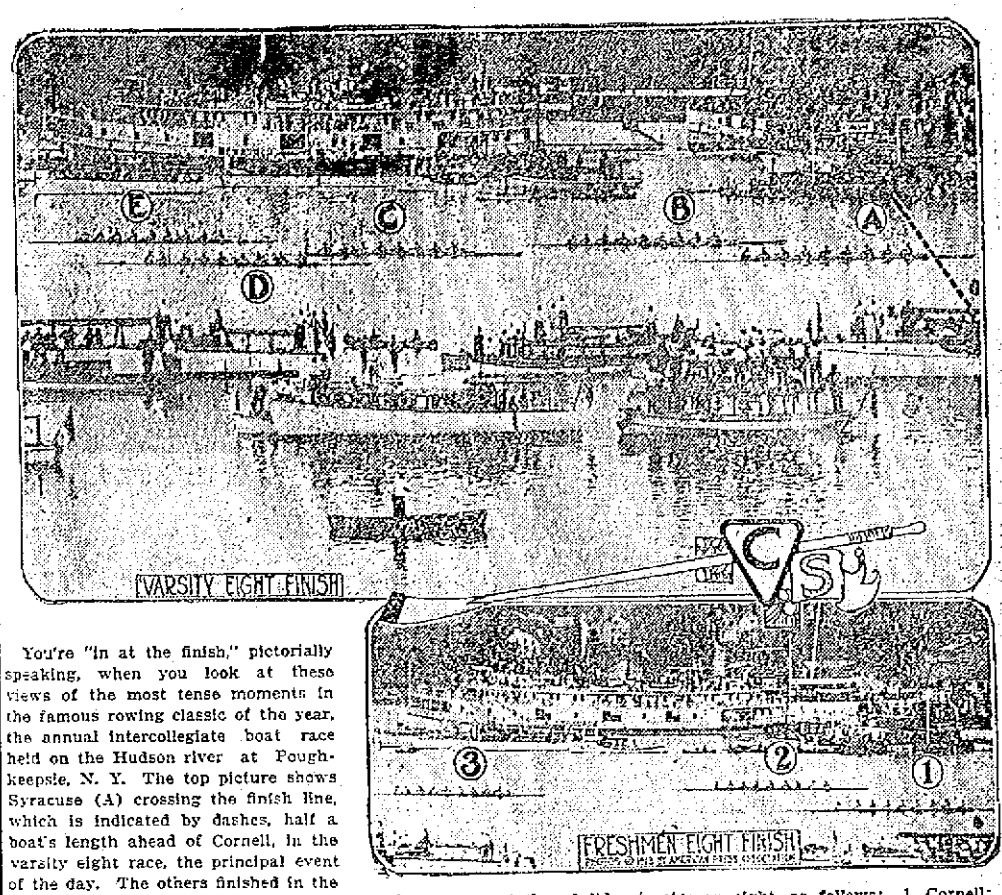
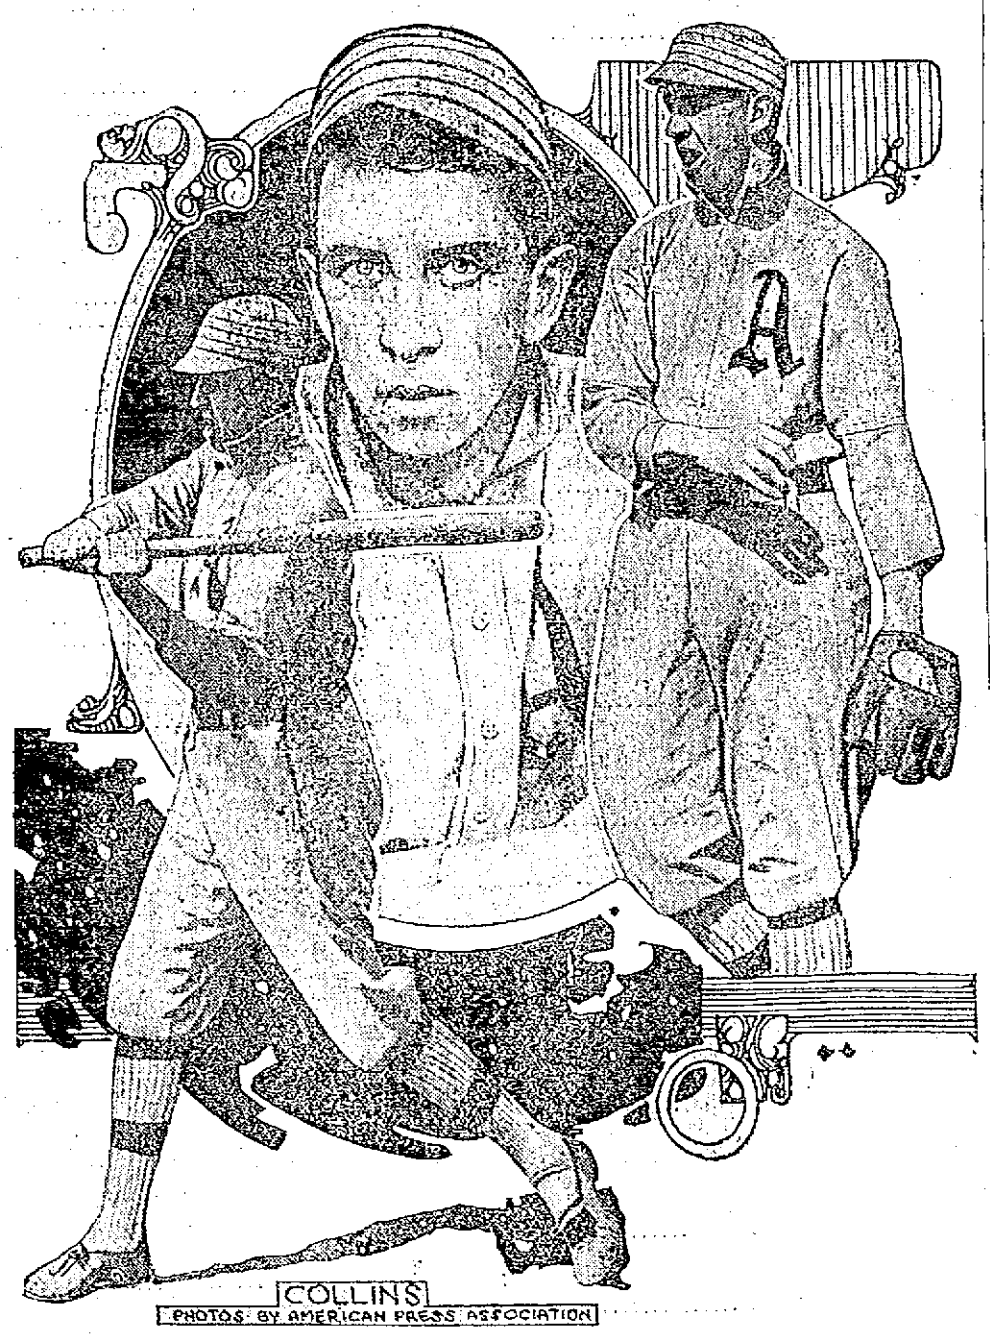
EXCITING FINISHES OF PRINCIPAL RACES BY COLLEGE CREWS AT POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y.



You're "in at the finish," pictorially speaking, when you look at these views of the most tense moments in the famous rowing classic of the year, the annual intercollegiate boat race held on the Hudson river at Poughkeepsie, N. Y. The top picture shows Syracuse (A) crossing the finish line, which is indicated by dashes, half a boat's length ahead of Cornell, in the varsity eight race, the principal event of the day. The others finished in the order shown in the picture, indicated as follows: (C) Washington, (D) Wisconsin and (E) Columbia. Pennsylvania was a poor sixth and did not get in the picture. In the lower illustration is shown the finish of the freshman eight, as follows: 1, Cornell; 2, Wisconsin; 3, Syracuse. The others straggled in later.

THREE VIEWS OF EDDIE COLLINS, ATHLETICS' GREAT SECOND BASEMAN



If the Athletics win the American league pennant this year most of the credit for the team's success must be given Eddie Collins, the Mackmen's star second baseman. Since the start of the campaign Eddie's brilliant all around playing has been the feature of the Athletics' games. According to the latest figures procurable, Collins is tickling the pill at a .357 step, being a close fourth to Ty Cobb, Joe Jackson and Tris Speaker with the bludgeon. He stands second to Milan in stolen bases, is second to Joe Jackson in lugging runs over the plate and is also third to Jackson and Tris Speaker in extra bases, which, speaking by and large, is averaging up some class. Collins' all around work this season has been a more potent factor than any other individual asset possessed by the Athletics in keeping the team at the top at a time when the pitching, with few exceptions, has been largely unkempt and threadbare throughout, and he has been the principal instigator along the Ban Johnson trail in perpetrating assaults on the home plate. This isn't merely a flash, but is running true to form as based on past performances. Starting as a regular in the big show in 1909, Eddie finished second to Cobb in batting with an average of .346, also finished second to Cobb in stolen bases with sixty-seven and led the second basemen of the American league in fielding. In the following year Eddie again led the second basemen in fielding, set a new record in stolen bases with eighty-one and finished with a batting average of .322. In the world series of that year against the Cubs he pelted the pill for an average of .429 and practically stymied the Cub defense with his work on the bases. In 1911 Collins led the second basemen for the third consecutive time, batted .365 and stole thirty-eight bases, while he finished last season with a batting average of .348 and pilfered sixty-three bases, twice accomplishing the feat of stealing six bases in a single game. Collins' grand total for four years he has been a regular on the Athletics is a batting average of .345 for the period, compiled from 755 hits that have included ninety-three doubles, thirty-eight triples and nine home runs, and he has stolen a total of 249 bases and led the second basemen in fielding in three of his four seasons, finishing second to Maurice Rath in this respect last season.

Merrimack Square Theatre

Herb Webster, Lowell's popular baritone, who is singing in a brace of songs as a feature of this week's bill is making a great hit with the large crowds attending the Merrimack Square theatre. He is favorably known here and his large circle of friends are on hand at the different performances to welcome him back and enjoy his work. Carter & Evans, a clever pair have a routine that's enjoyable and the Lambert Bros. in a little bit of everything present a lively twenty minutes in which banjo playing, dancing, and piano playing form a prominent part.

The pictures for the first three days include "A Child of War," a film that's as good if not better than any other like photo-plays and is shown in conjunction with other interesting subjects. Next week the feature in the vaudeville line is to be Lowell's biggest favorite, Donald Meek.

UNLAWFUL PRACTICES

Rebating is Charged Against United Shoe

BOSTON, June 25.—Rebating was added to the list of unlawful practices charged against the United Shoe Machinery Co. at the resumption of the dissolution proceedings in the United States district court today.

William S. Gregg, special assistant to the United States attorney general, showed, by means of a copy of minutes of a meeting of the United's executive committee on Jan. 29, 1900, that on motion of James J. Storrow, one of the directors, a vote was passed granting a rebate to shoe manufacturers equal to the amount of royalty paid on a flexible insole stitching machine during the quarter on which the rebate should be made.

Mr. Gregg also showed by the testimony of Harold Denham, secretary of the United company, that, according to the census of 1910, there were about 1300 shoe manufacturers in the United States. Mr. Denham, however, testified that the number had been estimated as high as 1500.

Mr. Gregg informed the court that the government expected to close its case tomorrow, but that it would have to introduce some testimony later regarding the patents involved.

TO OUST PRES. MELLEN

Reported the New Haven Head Must Go

BOSTON, June 25.—President Chas. S. Mellen is to be deposed as head of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad, according to a rumor current throughout banking circles and State street last night.

Strength was added to this report when it became known that Morgan & Co., their allied interests and the Pennsylvania railroad had turned their voting proxies to the New Haven stockholders' committee.

This committee is composed of men opposed to the Mellen regime. The action is taken to indicate that the Morgans, financial backers of the New Haven system, have withdrawn their support from Mr. Mellen. A reorganization of the railroad is expected.

Those who are familiar with the inside history of the corporation believe that the policy of expansion advocated by Mr. Mellen, and propagated by him, together with the downward trend of the stock, are responsible for the action.

Primary Bill Beaten

ALBANY, N. Y., June 25.—Governor Sulzer's direct primary bill last night went down to defeat in the assembly for the second time this year.

BOY FOUND UNDER BED

Captured After Fight—Held for Grand Jury

BOSTON, June 25.—John Leahey, the 18-year-old youth who was captured early yesterday morning by Adolphus Roy of 405 Athens street, South Boston, after he had fought and escaped from Mary Roy, 16, when she found him under her bed, is believed by the police to be the man who has during the past month entered a dozen South Boston homes. He was held in $1000 bail for the grand jury.

The police think that his name is fictitious and do not believe that he resides at 79 Mt. Vernon street, Dorchester, the address which he gave them. Nearly a dozen counts for breaking and entering will be preferred against him, it is expected, when he comes before the grand jury.

Big Torpedo Boat Tested

POISON GIRL TO MARRY

Lovers Were Reunited in Malden Hospital

BOSTON, June 25.—The engagement of Miss Susan McLaughlin, the 19-year-old Malden girl whose attempt at suicide a week ago by taking 15 grains of bichloride of mercury caused widespread interest, to Ernest Bennett, a Dorchester young man, living at 6 Moody street, was announced yesterday.

Members of the family gave out the news. The girl will leave the Malden hospital early this evening in a taxicab for her home at 35 Bryant street. Exactly one week later, Miss McLaughlin and Mr. Bennett will be wed, probably in Malden.

The girl and boy fell in love several months ago, while Mrs. McLaughlin was visiting her sister, Mrs. Bennett, the mother of the boy. Since that time until a few weeks ago the young couple could not be separated. Suddenly the boy ceased to write to his waiting sweetheart in Malden, and the girl, thinking that her lover had forgotten her, and being erroneously told that the law forbade marriage between cousins, became despondent and took the mercury tablets.

RAGING FOREST FIRE

$25,000 Worth of Timber Destroyed

PORTLAND, Me., June 25.—Word reached here last evening telling of a raging forest fire that threatens the villages of Steep Falls, Richville and Harmonville and has already destroyed more than $25,000 worth of standing timber. It is beyond control and is being fought by the men, women and children of the three villages, besides a crew sent out by the Maine Central railroad. Help has been summoned from other villages in the vicinity.

WATCH PRES. WILSON

Executive May Smash Another Precedent

WASHINGTON, June 25.—Members of the house are waiting eagerly to see whether President Wilson will smash another precedent and attend a meeting of the Lincoln Memorial bridge commission, of which he is a member in the house end of the capitol instead of calling the members to the executive offices. A meeting of the committee is scheduled for this week.

While the president has frequently used his room in the senate wing of the big building for consultations with members of both bodies he has thus far confined his appearances in the precincts of the house to the two times he read his messages to the joint session. If he puts in an appearance at the committee meeting he will have toppled over another tradition.

The commission was named by the previous session of congress to investigate and report on the cost and design of a bridge to span the Potomac river from near the site of the Lincoln memorial and the Arlington national cemetery. Besides the president, Vice-President Marshall, Speaker Clark, Senator Swanson and Representative Clark of Florida constitute the commission.

RUSSIAN FLYING SQUADS

Minister of War Wants Every Corps Equipped

ST. PETERSBURG, June 25.—Development of the aerial armament of Russia is making immense progress, according to the chief of the army staff, who today during a debate in the duma related some interesting details of what had been done in this direction. He said the ministry of war would not rest until a flying squad had been established in every army corps. The government, he continued, had doubled the number of dirigibles recently. It had acquired airships, known as aerial dreadnoughts, which were provided with machine guns, bomb throwers and wireless telegraphy. It was true, he concluded, that this German army possessed eleven dirigibles but only eight of them came up to the standard of the six Russian army dirigibles.

ERUPTION ON BABY'S BODY AND FACE

Pimples Formed Scabs, Itching So Great Could Not Sleep, Had to Tie His Hands, Completely Cured by Cuticura Soap and Ointment.

60 Walnut St., Northampton, Mass.—"My baby was afflicted with a skin disease for a couple of months. The trouble commenced with pimples, which, after breaking, formed scabs which became so large that a five cent piece could not be placed on any part of the body except in the hair. His body and face were covered with scabs, and the itching was so great that the baby could not get any sleep either day or night. He had such a fever that he could hardly eat, and we had to tie up his hands because he scratched continually. After washing the child morning and evening with Cuticura Soap and applying the Cuticura Ointment for about three weeks he was completely cured."

"My little boy, two years old, was playing near the stove and put his hand inadvertently on the stove, which was almostred. It made a wound the size of a 25c. piece. At once my wife thought of the excellent Cuticura Ointment and after an application of it the child no longer felt the effects of the fire." (Signed) F. X. Langlais, May 11, 1912.

Cuticura Soap 25c. and Cuticura Ointment 50c. are sold everywhere. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

Men who shave and shampoo with Cuticura Soap will find it best for skin and scalp.

GEN. OJEDA FORCED BACK

War Dept. Reports That He Retreated

MEXICO CITY, June 25.—War department officials today conceded the truth of the report that General Pedro Ojeda, who has been leading the federal forces against the insurgents in Sonora, had been forced to retreat to the seaport of Guaymas. Recently it was reported that General Ojeda had been successful in driving the rebels back to their base of supplies at Ortiz.

ANNUAL MUSTER

Of New England Veteran Firemen's Association May Be Held in This City Late in August

President James H. Walker of the Lowell Butler Vets and his associates are very anxious to have the New England Veteran Firemen's Association hold its annual muster in this city. The muster is to be held the latter part of August. Chelsea is a bidder for the event, too, but Mr. Walker allows that if the Butler Vets can succeed in corralling the amount necessary to pull off a muster, about $1500, the big squirt will be held in Lowell.

MANUEL QUESON RESIGNS

As Commissioner of the Philippine Islands

WASHINGTON, June 25.—Manuel Queson, resident commissioner for the Philippine islands in congress, has resigned from the executive committee of the Philippine society and also as a member because he is not in sympathy with the announced purposes of the society nor with the course he says has been pursued by the society's officers and members in the affairs of the islands.

Former President Taft is the honorary president of the organization and the active president is General Luke Wright, former governor general of the islands. The headquarters are in New York.

Queson, in his letter of resignation, writes that he joined the society with the honest belief that he could aid in the promotion of its announced purpose "to create a more sympathetic interest between the American and Filipino people." He soon suspected, he goes on to say, that the real object was to create a public opinion in favor of the indefinite retention of the islands by the United States.

2 TARIFF AMENDMENTS

On Administrative Provisions Opposed

WASHINGTON, June 25.—Two far-reaching amendments to the administrative provisions of the tariff bill aroused opposition in the democratic senate caucus today.

One was prohibiting importation of any goods, except immediate products of agriculture forests and fisheries, wholly or in part manufactured by children under 14 years old. That provision was declared by many senators to be the most drastic protective measure any manufacturer could ask for; greater as a protection against foreign competition than high tariff rates.

The amendment to grant the U. S. court of appeals concurrent jurisdiction with the customs court in customs cases involving more than $100 also aroused attention. Some democrats thought the proposals an entering wedge toward elimination of the customs court.

Ruth was at bat when the catcher tried to throw a man out at second base. The ball hit Ruth on the head and he fell unconscious.

DRYDOCK AT NORFOLK, VA.

Effort to Pass Authorization Through Congress

WASHINGTON, June 25.—Vigorous efforts will be made to force through congress at the opening of the regular session in December an authorization for the construction of a gigantic drydock at Norfolk, Va., capable of accommodating the largest dreadnaught. The cost, it is estimated, would be approximately $3,000,000. Representative Holland of Virginia already has a bill before the house naval affairs committee.

21 STRIKERS CONVICTED

Of Unlawful Assemblage at Paterson

PATERSON, N. J., June 25.—Sixteen men and five women who were active in recent silk striker disturbances were convicted by a county court jury yesterday on charges of unlawful assemblage. The defendants interfered with strikers returning to work, it was charged.

Judge Klenert sentenced them to three months each in the county jail.

His June Piano Sale Now On

HIS GREAT PIANO SALES

A Piano Sale here is always a sacrifice, always a bargain sale, always a mark-down sale. The very nature of business, as the public knows, is one of sacrifice. The business here is not conducted like the business of a regular Piano store down town, where they are expected to make a profit on each piano—where they get their profit DIRECTLY out of the sale of pianos. We don't let any piano leaf around on the floor of the Roxbury Storage Salesrooms—it comes in DUE TIME, a Sacrifice tag is clapped on it, be it high grade, low grade or middle grade, and it is sold to the first man or woman who wants it for the price marked on the tag—not a cent more or less. The selling price is made on the Roxbury Storage Salesrooms "Expense percentage" basis, and is figured to let the accounts out clean and clear without regard to profit—so you can see easily by this statement how these sales must necessarily be sacrifices. Someone's loss is your gain.

The gilded piano stores, with their costly appointments, their high salaried sales agents, their sellers' commissions, etc., are no places for the economical piano buyer to go to. Take the trouble to look around a little, go up where the rents are not high and buy your piano right.

M'NAB REPLIES TO PRES. WILSON

Says Vindication of Atty. General McReynolds Does Not Change the Facts

SAN FRANCISCO, June 25.—Late last night former District Attorney McNab gave out a formal statement in part as follows:

"The president has accepted my resignation and the incident is closed. Even the eminent respectability of the president and his followers and his fulsome but necessary vindication of the character of the attorney-general do not change the facts.

"The attorney-general had before him my repeated warnings that political corruption was at work, that subornation of perjury had been practiced and that if the Caminetti-Diggs case were continued the evidence would be destroyed and the power of the government to convict would be destroyed. He was informed that this office would be directly charged with corruption if the cases were postponed. With indifference to the rights of this office and the honor of the department of justice he continued the case until autumn.

"The president announces that the department of justice will make great haste to try those cases. Why is it necessary to hasten now when it was unnecessary to make haste a week ago?"

"The attorney-general cheerfully ordered the continuance of these cases in spite of the charge of corruption in order that this office might bear the stain. He approved all the evidence against the two western fuel directors whom he now practically acquits. One of these wealthy defendants after securing a continuance entered his office and the evidence immediately became insufficient.

"This matter has never been of personality. It is simply a question of principle. If my resignation from office and the consequent rousing of public opinion will accomplish the result of convicting these flagrant offenders against the laws of the country then I will feel that the effort has not been in vain."

CASE OF CRUELTY TO A CHILD

In Which Parents Denied Having Inflicted the Wounds—Man Held in $2000

One of the most pitiful cases of child abuse ever tried before the local court was called this morning when James and Mary McKeon, charged with cruelly beating the 8-year-old daughter of the former, were arraigned before Judge Enright. The little girl, with dull, sorrowful eyes, sat by the side of the matron of the police station while Dr. Livingston related to the court what his examination of her had revealed. In all, he said, she had 23 black and blue marks upon her body which had been inflicted by very severe blows as the marks were very plain eight days after the child had suffered her punishment. Her left eye still showed where a blow had blackened it and her left ear, the physician testified, was in very bad shape when he first saw her.

The matron also testified that she had examined the abused child and her testimony corroborated that of Dr. Livingston's in every particular. Lawyer O'Connor, who appeared for the defence, tried to show that the marks could have been inflicted by a fall, but Dr. Livington was not ready to admit that all of the contusions could be made by the child's falling.

Both defendants took the stand and testified that they had never struck the little girl. The man said that he never punished her while the stepmother told the court that she shook her husband's child whenever she needed chastisement. Judge Enright delivered a scathing lecture to both defendants but said that inasmuch as they had five children depending upon them for sustenance he did not see how he could sentence them to imprisonment. He found them both guilty and continued the case for a week for sentence.

John B. Clancy's Case

John B. Clancy's nerve evidently failed him today for he did not argue his case himself, but employed John H. McEvoy, Esq., as counsel. He was fined $10 for operating a stable without a license and had never a word to say until sentence was imposed. Then with his best oratorical manner he arose and said, "I appeal." His case will be heard in the superior court if his courage does not fail him again. J. Joseph Hennessy, Esq., prosecuted the case.

John F. Harmon pleaded guilty to the non-support of his minor child. His wife testified that the defendant had not lived with her since last July and that she had received no support from him since that time. Her mother testified to the same thing. The defendant was ordered to pay $4 a week toward his child's support with a sentence of five months to the house of correction hanging over his head in case he does not live up to the order of the court.

The case of James Saugulas and John Costelas, charged with disturbing the peace, will be heard tomorrow. J. Joseph Hennessy, Esq., appeared for the defendant.

The fourth and last man, whom the police claim did the stabbing in Monday night's near riot was brought into court this morning and arraigned on the same charge as the other three, assault with intent to murder.

Allie Aecarry was the name he answered to. He was held in $2000 bail for his appearance on the morning of July 3d.

Charles Reynolds, Thomas McLaughlin and Mary J. Bryden all received jail sentences for drunkenness. The period that each will spend on Thorndike street is three months.

John Caulombe, a man who was arrested in a boarding house on Tremont street last night, pleaded guilty to drunkenness. His case was continued until Saturday.

John Gill, Sadie Ward and Michael Cassidy, all received 6 fines for their second appearance for drunkenness.

GRADUATION AT VARNUM SCHOOL

Three Historic Pictures Presented to the School

Addresses of Interest and a Fine Program

In spite of the high temperature last evening, the hall of the Varnum school was crowded with people who came to witness the closing exercises of the graduating class. The occasion was signalized by the presentation to the school of three large portraits respectively of Benjamin Franklin Varnum, General Joseph Bradley Varnum and Mrs. Molly Butler Varnum, all three of the above having been intimately connected with the early history of Lowell and Dracut.

The first was presented by John Marshall Varnum of Boston having been painted in 1841. The second was given through the generosity of the graduates of the Varnum school and was painted by Mrs. Nathan Pulsifer, daughter of John I. Coggeshall and herself a gifted artist. The portrait of General Varnum was painted by Mr. Coggeshall. It was presented by Adjt. General Pearson, the three paintings are of great historic and artistic value.

Musical Director, Mr. Frederick O. Blunt.

Mr. John Marshall Varnum, who is a lineal descendant of the Varnums, who figured so prominently with the early history of the city, delivered the address of presentation and presented the portrait of Sheriff Benjamin Franklin Varnum, which by the way, was painted in 1841, and his speech was of the greatest interest being replete with historic facts about early Lowell and Dracut. Mr. Varnum traced the lives of the Varnums of old through the various noteworthy events, starting with Samuel Varnum, father of Joseph Bradley Varnum, the school being named after the latter. Joseph Bradley Varnum was born about the year 1752 in Dracut said John Marshall Varnum and received the education afforded by the rude schools of that day. When a young man, he took up farming as an occupation and throughout his entire life pointed with pride to that fact. In 1773 he married Molly, daughter of Jacob and Mary Eames Butler of Pelham, and she proved an admirable helpmate to him throughout the greater portion of his life. In his autobiography he pays her a glowing tribute, telling how she aided the soldiers in the war, depriving herself to do so.

Young Varnum had a stout military spirit and spent considerable time watching military maneuvers when opportunity presented itself. He was one of the 81 Dracut men who answered the call for minute men in 1775 and marched to the scene of the Concord fight. Varnum, young as he was, was the only man who had any real knowledge of military tactics and he took command of the company of minute men, instructing them.

He saw considerable service during the war, being drawn in 1777 to reinforce the Northern army with his company and was in the battle of Saratoga. In 1778 his company was dispatched to Rhode Island where the British were devastating plantations. Limited space prohibits mention of all of the other engagements in which General Varnum took part. His military services lasted from 1776 to 1821. In 1781 he received a second commission as captain from Governor Hancock, he was commissioned colonel in 1787, brigadier general in 1802, and Maj. general in 1805, in which rank he was at the time of his death.

His political career was most remarkable:

From 1781 to 1785 he represented his native town in the state legislature. From 1784 to 1793 he was a senator from Middlesex county; and again, after his congressional career had ended, from 1817 to the year of his death in 1821. In 1795 he was elected a member of the fourth session of the National house of representatives, the seat of government being then at Philadelphia.

He served in the national house from 1786 to 1851, and was twice chosen to preside over that body. His vote as speaker in the Miranda case decided the doctrine of non-intervention and saved our country from a war with Spain. He was an ardent supporter of President Jefferson's administration.

He was especially prominent in the senate, being chairman of the committee on military affairs besides holding other offices. In 1808 he was nominated for governor and in 1813 for governor, being defeated both times, his only political defeats.

"As to his personality," said Mr. John Marshall Varnum, "I am proud to refer you to the portrait which is to hang on the walls of this institution." It is a copy of that which adorns the national house of representatives, being presented by the state to congress.

Of Benjamin Franklin Varnum, youngest son of General Varnum, Mr. John Marshall spoke in detail. He was born in 1785 and educated at Westford academy. He too, came into prominence. He was one of the selectmen of Dracut. He represented his native town in the state legislature in 1824 and 1825. During the subsequent years up to 1831 he was senator from Middlesex county. He had acquired a practical knowledge of surveying, and in 1826 was appointed a member of the commission to settle the boundary line between Massachusetts and New Hampshire, a vexed question which had been in dispute since 1741, when Dracut, among other border towns, lost much territory. He served for many years as a member of the first board of county commissioners. In 1831 he was appointed sheriff of Middlesex county, the most populous in the state. His efforts in behalf of Dracut and Central Village were untiring and his ambition was to make it a delightful spot for dwellings and in this he succeeded to a great degree. He died in 1841.

Mr. Coggeshall

In presenting the painting of Mrs. Molly Varnum, painted by his daughter, Mr. John I. Coggeshall spoke of his own early school days, saying that the schools which he attended were located with a view to picturesqueness rather than to convenience, it seemed. He spoke of the deep interest which he has in the Varnum school, for his daughter was a graduate of the institution, and said further that his daughter whose love for the school was very strong wishing to give some token of remembrance presented the picture of Molly Varnum.

Gen. Gardner W. Pearson

The presentation of the portrait of Gen. Joseph Bradley Varnum was made by Adjutant General Gardner W. Pearson, class of 1882, who also presented the state flag which was purchased with the surplus funds raised by the graduates. He dwelt on the historic associations which the paintings will always recall and paid a high compliment to the work of the school.

Acceptance

Acceptance of all of the gifts was made by Mr. Henry H. Harris, master of the school, who spoke very briefly in gratitude to the graduates and to the other donors.

Address to Graduates

In addressing the graduates, Solon W. Stevens, Esq., took for his topic the motto of the class which is "Aim to Excel", and offered words of advice and encouragement to the young people which will be useful to them in their work. In speaking of their entering the high school, he said that if they study diligently there, they will receive a better education in the Lowell High school than could be obtained in any of the colleges of the commonwealth 30 years ago. He congratulated the boys and girls as did all of the other speakers and paid a tribue to the Varnum school.

Presentation of Diplomas

The presentation of the diplomas was made by Mr. John C. Farrington of the school committee who congratulated the graduates and paid a high compliment to the Varnum school. He expressed the hope that in years to come this graduating class would reflect credit on its Alma Mater and hold it in as grateful remembrance as do the classes who have gone before.

Well Satisfied

Many of the tenants of the new Sun building say they would sooner think of going out of business than return to their former locations.

IN HONOR OF ST. JOHN

French Flag Displayed on Sun Building

Yesterday was the feast of St. John, patron saint of the French speaking people, and the only building in this city where the French flag floated in the breeze was The Sun building, and accordingly, the daily French newspaper of Lowell, "Le Supplement," had the following item in yesterday's issue, relative to the floating of the French flag on Lowell's skyscraper.

"The many French people who went outdoors today remarked with pleasure and pride that our national flag was floating from the mast of the magnificent structure of the 'Lowell Sun.'

"Many were wondering, and not without reason, why our national flag occupied such a place of honor, and also why it was displayed all day long on the quarters of our English-speaking contemporary. The reason is simple. Since the new and splendid home of The Sun, the only skyscraper in the city, was finished, the proprietor, Mr. John H. Harrington, has made it his business to have the flags of the various nationalities float from the mast of the high building on their respective festival days, and be it said that Mr. Harrington's idea is a wise one."

WILSON AND M'REYNOLDS CONFER

Meet to Select Special Prosecutor for the Caminetti-Diggs White Slave Case

WASHINGTON, June 25.—President Wilson and Attorney General McReynolds had an early conference today to select a special prosecutor for the Caminetti-Diggs white slave case and the Western Fuel Co. indictments in the federal courts in San Francisco.

The attitude of White House officials today in declining to comment on the latest declarations of the federal grand jury in San Francisco and the attacks of former United States Attorney McNabb upon Attorney General McReynolds for his postponement of the prosecutions was that the action of the president and the attorney general in ordering the cases to trial speaks for itself. It was the official view that however mistaken Mr. McReynolds' cursory view of the situation upon which he ordered postponement, his action was free from any unworthy motives and it was pointed out that the correspondence made public at the White House last night shows that the attorney general himself had reversed his position and was approved by the president.

President Wilson's attitude now was said at the White House to be that the selection of capable counsel to carry the cases to trial was a sufficient demonstration of the sincere wish of the administration to have a vigorous prosecution.

It is President Wilson's intention to secure Francis J. Heney, if possible, to take the cases. He is regarded as being specially desirable because he has no political interests with the administration. Secretary Lane, a personal friend of Heney's has been asked to use his influence to get the lawyer to undertake the work. That failing other prominent lawyers are mentioned as possible special prosecutors.

With the selection of a prosecutor the White House will consider the noted cases a closed incident.

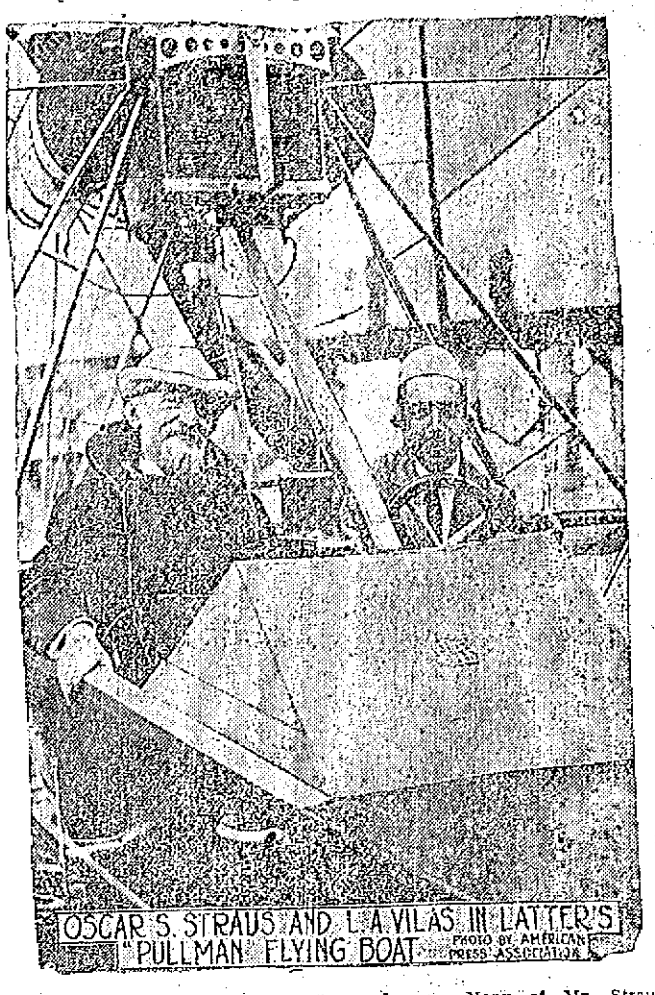
POSSIBLE WATERY DEATH HOLDS NO TERROR FOR OSCAR S. STRAUS



OSCAR S. STRAUS AND L. A. VILAS IN LATTER'S "PULLMAN" FLYING BOAT. PHOTO BY AMERICAN PRESS ASSOCIATION

NEW YORK, June 25.—Oscar S. Straus, who ran for governor of New York last autumn and whose brother was one of the Titanic victims, had no hesitancy in risking his life when he went up in a hydroaeroplane owned and run by L. A. Vilas, a rich Chicago aviator. Though Mr. Straus was reported recently so ill when he returned from a trip to Europe that he had to be carried from the ship, he showed little signs of weakness during the flight over Pelham bay with Vilas. The latter had assured him that there was no danger. Many of Mr. Straus' friends wondered why he should place himself in any position of danger as regarded a possible death in the water because of the fate that befell his brother on the Titanic. Vilas' hydroaeroplane is luxurious as flying boats go. It is fitted up in Pullman car style, with glossy mahogany finish and nickel plated fittings. It is forty feet wide and twenty-six feet long. It has a 100 horsepower motor and can go fifty-five miles an hour in the water and sixty-five miles an hour when aloft.
